O. S. R. INMATES LOCK UP GUARD AND THEN FLEE

Trio Threatens Officer With Butcher Knives Stolen In Institution Kitchen.

ALL GIVEN PAROLES

Take Keys, Place Officer In Refrigerator Room in Flight From Dormitory.

Brandishing butcher knives they had stolen from the kitchen, three trusties, all of whom had been granted paroles, overpowered a guard and escaped from the Ohio State reformatory last night.

The trio escaped from the farm dormitory building after locking Guard Fred C. Williams, in a cold storage chamber.

A hastily organized posse of guards attempted to track the trio in the snow without success. No trace of them had been found today as police throughout Ohio continued to search for them.

It was the first escape from the institution since last December, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said.

He identified the fugitives as Ronald Long, 24; James Layton, 26, and Elwood Deckerhoff, 24. Long had been granted a parole effective July 1, and Layton and Deckerhoff, were to have been released Oct. 1.

Long was committed to the reformatory Nov. 19, 1937 from Hamilton county to serve three concurrent sentences of 10 to 25 years; two sentences of from one to 15 years for burglary and larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property.

Layton and Deckerhoff, received Oct. 11, 1938 from Columbiana county, were serving terms of from one to 15 years on charges of assault to rob.

Glattke said the trio slipped from their beds and accosted Williams shortly before midnight while he was making his rounds.

Threatening the unarmed guard with the knives, apparently stolen from the kitchen, they took Williams keys and forced him to accompany them to the basement of the building where he was locked in a cold storage chamber.

They used the keys to unlock a gate on an enclosure which surrounds the building.

The dormitory is located just east of Route 13, about a half mile from the main buildings.

Another trusty phoned an alarm to the guard captain in the main building, but by the time help arrived the prisoners had escaped.

Williams was liberated by another guard, Robert Kyle, who was first to reach the scene.

TALK CONTRACT

Coal Operators, Union Heads Start Discussions.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Representatives of soft coal operators and of the United Mine Workers met in executive session today to start discussions on a new contract for 450,000 miners of the eight state Appalachian region.

Each side named sub-committees yesterday for the detailed negotiations now under way. A prolonged conference was in prospect as the result of the flat rejection by operators of the union's demand for $1 a day wage increase.

The operators also rejected a proposal by John L. Lewis, head of the union, that if no contract is signed by April 1, the date the present contract expires, work will continue without interruption.

Greenburg, Unfit for Draft, Signs $50,000 Tiger Contract

DETROIT —(INS)— Hank Greenberg, slugging outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, has been declared "unfit" for military service because of "flat feet," the Detroit Times said today in a special dispatch from Tiger training camp.

Greenberg was examined at Lakeland, Fla., by Dr. Grover C. Freeman, draft board doctor.

Simultaneously, it was revealed that Greenberg signed his 1941 contract today for a reported $50,000 after a long distance telephone conversation with Owner Walter O. Briggs who is in Miami Beach, the story said. Greenberg reportedly received $45,000 last year.

Dr. Freeman, the story said, will recommend that Hank—current home run king in the American league—be placed in class 1B which would make him available for "limited military service."

The physician, who examined Hank at the request of his Detroit board, will come to Detroit to explain his findings to Greenberg's draft board, it was said. Hank was draft number 621 and was due to be called up sometime next month.

Army Man Hurt as Truck And Cycle Crash In City

Clevelander Injured As Cavalry Unit Passes Through Mansfield En Route to Camp; Continues Trip.

(Picture on Page 7)

A member of a cavalry unit en route from Cleveland to Camp Forest, Tenn., was injured and his motorcycle was wrecked this morning when it collided with a coal truck at the intersection of South Main and Second streets.

Injured was Private Charles Carmony, who suffered severe lacerations and bruises about the legs in the crash. He was released from General hospital after treatment.

The accident occurred while a 107th cavalry company unit was passing through the city. Police said that although they had given escort to two units this week, that this being a small group, none had been requested.

The unit, composed of two army truck and six motorcycles, was proceeding through the city with sirens sounding. At Second street, the last cycle, in which Carmony was riding in a sidecar collided with the truck.

William Sampsel, driver of the truck, owned by the H. and H. Coal company, told police that he was going with a green light when the accident happened.

The damaged cycle was placed in one of the army trucks and after Carmony had been treated, the unit proceeded on its route.

Carmony was riding in the cycle's sidecar when the crash came. The driver was not injured but Carmony's legs were pinned in the small car and he was thrown forward on his face.

BILL GETS TOP POSITION

BNLLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Secretary Stimson said today that some defense material to be transferred to Great Britain under the lend-lease act already had started to its destination. For the moment, the secretary of war withheld details.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Given "very enthusiastic endorsement" by Secretaries Hull, Stimson and Knox, the $7,000,000,000 lease-lend appropriation bill advanced rapidly today through the preliminary phase of legislative consideration.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt, speaking over all radio chains, will address the nation from 9:30 to 10 p. m. EST tomorrow night on his aims under the lease-lend program, it was announced at the White House today.

Chairman Woodrum (D.-Va.) said his house appropriations subcommitte hoped to finish its hearings on the measure during the day—thus completing in two days its deliberations on the largest appropriation in peacetime history.

The bill already has acquirred the No. 1 position on the house calendar for next Tuesday, and its passage by Wednesday night was generally forecast.

There was a conspicuous lack of outspoken opposition either in house or in the senate. Most of the critical comment heard concerned whether the full $7,000,-

DENIES CHARGE

Letizia Pleads Innocent To Threat Letter Indictment.

Joseph Letizia, 50, of 381 Wayne street, pleaded innocent in Cleveland today to a federal indictment charging he sent threatening letters to another Mansfielder in an attempt to extort $3,000.

He was released on continuance of his $1,500 bond for trial later. No date has been set for the hearing.

Letizia, a former state liquor store employe, is accused of attempting to extort $3,000 from Joe Ferrise, Third street market merchant.

He was arrested here last November by police and federal agents after an 18-month investigation. He was alleged to have written the letters in March 1939.

Stork Will Arrive at Home Of Blondie and Dagwood Soon

Here's news. Important news. And it will result in a lot of changes being made. Monday, April 7, the most celebrated average man who ever lived in Mansfield, Dagwood Bumstead, will become a father for a second time.

In case you didn't know, which seems unlikely, Dagwood Bumstead is the father in the daily News-Journal comic strip, "Blondie," one of the most popular funnies in the country. "Blondie," of course, is Dagwood's wife.

It has been whispered for some time that the Bumsteads were "infanticipating." But it was officially announced this week that the new sister (it will definitely be a girl) will arrive at the Bumstead home April 7, just a week and a day before the birthday of Alexander Bumstead, known to the family as Baby Dumpling.

That will make it a boy and a girl for the Bumsteads. The news of the forthcoming Miss B. was announced by Chic Young, author of the Bumsteads, through an article in a magazine last week.

Young indicated that a name has not been chosen yet, though the event is less than a month away. But the big news is that the pangs of fatherhood are a serious matter, and for the next few weeks until that, to be, celebrated day it would be best to treat Dagwood's foibles more kindly than usual. After all, being a father is an important matter.

Nazis Pound Glasgow as British Reply

Hamburg Hit In Second Night Raid As Both Sides Claim Planes Are Bagged; Battle Continues to Rage Around Tepeleni.

(By Associated Press)

Roaring through the clear, moonlight skies of early spring, German bombers pounded the great Clydebank shipbuilding yards at Glasgow, Scotland, and other British targets during the night, while British raiders lashed again at Hamburg, Germany, in the furiously renewed war in the air.

Germans said more than 50 patients and nurses were "dead and buried" beneath the wreckage of two Hamburg hospitals, but declared five British bombers were shot down. It was the second successive nocturnal attack on the great German port city.

The British said their night fighters bagged eight German raiders in violent Nazi attacks on Glasgow, Liverpool, London and other parts of the embattled island, bringing to 20 the number of German warplanes reported destroyed since nightfall Wednesday.

The raid on the big shipbuilding yards along the River Clyde was the first the Germans have attempted on a large scale since the war began, but the attack on Liverpool was the second in as many nights. The British acknowledged "some industrial buildings and houses" damaged at Glasgow.

There was little other action on the far-flung war fronts, except in Albania, where the Greeks said waves of fresh Fascist troops flung themselves vainly at their lines in an effort to obey Premier Mussolini's reported decree to his generals to "do something" by tomorrow.

The battle around Tepeleni on the central front, principal objective of the Greek forces since early December, now has raged furiously for seven days and nights, dispatches from the front said.

The Italian high command reported 'local infantry and artillery actions" in the mountain fighting and asserted that Fascist warplanes "followed one another without interruption against enemy defense works and troops."

The daily Rome war bulletin also reported that "enemy" torpedo-launching planes attempted to attack Italian steamers in the Bay of Valona harbor—major port of entry for Fascist war supplies in Albania—but that "violent fire" drove off the raiders and shot down two planes.

In East Africa, the Italian communique said, British attacks in

PREDICTS QUICK BRITISH VICTORY

Admiralty Head Says Empire Must Hang on Until U. S. Aid Arrives.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — A British victory "will not only be certain—it will be quick," if the empire can hold on until American aid is received, First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander declared today.

"You can not win this national struggle except on the basis of 100 per cent national cooperation," Alexander told a parliament press luncheon.

"We are facing perhaps the most crucial stage of the war in which the navy is called upon to play a very great part."

Minister of shipping Ronald H. Cross told the Engineers Institute:

"I say frankly we are going to be faced with a really hard struggle at sea this year."

Churchill Asks Shipping Aid

LONDON —(U.P.)— Prime Minister Winston Churchill today asked "urgent" aid from the United States in meeting Britain's vital shipping needs.

He announced that small trouble-shooting missions would be dispatched to the United States immediately to handle shipping and food aid to Britain under President Roosevelt's lease-lend measure.

"In no sphere of the war," said a statement from No. 10 Downing street, "is the help which the United States government can give us under the lend-lease legislation more urgent than that of shipping."

At the same time it was announced that Lord Woolton, food minister, would send a small mission headed by Robert H. Brand, banking industrial expert, to the United States to discuss arrangements to obtain food stuffs under the lease-lend bill.

FATHER OF 5 KILLED

OFF FOR CAMP

59 Selectees From County To Leave Mansfield Tomorrow.

Fifty-nine selectees and volunteers, second largest group to leave Richland county since military induction began last fall, will leave at 8 a. m. Saturday for Ft. Hayes, Columbus, to join the army.

The contingent was to have included 61 men, but two of them, William Hallam and Russell Ferrell, both of Mansfield, were deferred for occupational reasons. It was impossible to give replacements the necessary notice, Todd Patton, Board 1 clerk, said.

The men will go in two buses, leaving the Mansfield bus depot. At Ft. Hayes they will receive their final physical check-up before they are sent to camp for a year's training.

Preparing for anticipated heavy quotas in April, the three county selective service boards today called 39 men for physical examinations at the Mansfield Armory.

Quiet Ceremony Read Last Night For Mansfielders

Last night at an improvised altar in the parsonage of the First Christian church Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger performed the quiet nuptial ceremony which united in marriage Miss Myrtle Elizabeth Levering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Levering, 374 Wood street, and Wilbur Charles McAllister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McAllister, Walker lake road.

The bride was attired in a black and white ensemble, and wore a gardenia corsage for her 8:30 p. m. marriage. She is a graduate of the Mansfield Senior high school and attended the Mansfield Business college. Her husband is employed at the Mansfield Wrecking company.

A wedding supper was served to members of the immediate families at the Colonial Guest house following the service. The table was decorated with a wedding cake, candles and a centerpiece of carnations. Mr. and Mrs. McAllister are now on a brief wedding trip. They will make their home with his parents.

Relief Corps Meets at Hall

A routine session was held by the McLaughlin Women's Relief corps No. 26 at the Memorial building Wednesday evening with Mrs. Sarah Case in charge. Announcement was made of two demonstration meetings, one to be held March 18 at 8 p. m. at the Class Baths, the other at 7:30 p. m. at the O. P. S. on March 25.

Jane Beelman, district president, invited the corps to participate in the district meeting to be held at the Memorial building from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. March 26 with a covered-dish dinner to be served at noon. The regular meeting will be held in the evening.

Mary Edmonstone was in charge of the social hour, and refreshments were served. Mrs. Jane Neff invited the corps members to attend a party being sponsored by the Rebekah lodge March 19 at the I. O. O. F. hall.

Conservation Club Meets at Mrs. Bender's

There were 19 members of the Child Conservation club present at the meeting held with Mrs. George Bender, Woodland road, with Mrs. Warren Ullom assisting. Mrs. Robert Alexander and Mrs. Wilbur Campbell gave the program on personality.

St. Patrick appointments were used on the table which was decorated with green candles and sweet peas. Mrs. Alexander poured. The next meeting will be held March 27 with Mrs. Earl Boals, Dawson avenue, with Mrs. Robert Bair assisting.

CLUB MEETS.

There were 14 members of the Mary-Martha Bible club present yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. Leo Hartmann, Stewart avenue, for a regular meeting. Mrs. K. R. Smith led the devotions, and Mrs. J. D. Wilcox was in charge of the lesson. The next meeting will be held March 27 with Mrs. Myron Miller, 459½ Glessner avenue.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

THIS is the time of year for sorority and fraternity initiations—college campus pledges having completed their chores and made the proper grades to become active members. . . . And so Robert Straub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Straub, was initiated into Delta Kappa Epsilon down at Miami university. Mr. Straub and Gerald Van Arnam, who is a member of the same Greek letter group, were guests at the initiation ceremonies.

And in Athens at Ohio university, Jim L. Hart became a member of Theta Chi, a national fraternity with 50 chapters located at leading colleges and universities throughout the country. . . . Jim, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hart, recently participated in Greek day at the university, when members of 11 fraternities and eight sororities discussed means for making their organizations more helpful to themselves and the university. . . . The Theta Chi initiation ceremonies were concluded with a banquet in honor of the new initiates.

It's easy to believe that Marguerite Loris probably isn't looking forward to tomorrow at all. Not because she has anything against Mansfield—but just against its weather. . . . She's been vacationing in Florida for the past several weeks, you know, and is scheduled to arrive home again tomorrow. . . . In a postcard she sent from Jacksonville this week, she wrote that the bathing at Miami Beach had left her very freckled, but that she's been having a wonderful time.

In a colorful Spanish setting, Nancy Walker of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Margaret Foster of Detroit, Mich., were crowned King and Queen of the recent Sullins college Mardi Gras in Bristol, Va., and Polly Morrissey from our town was a member of their attending court. . . . A group of the students were elected by the junior class to be senors and senoritas for the King and Queen, who wore a handsome red velvet cape and white satin gown with white lace mantilla, respectively. . . . Ladies of the court were gowned in colorful costumes fashioned of red and gold satin, and each wore a lace mantilla. . . . Costumes of the senors and the dancers were in keeping with the Spanish theme too. . . . Novel and amusing dances as well as the traditional Spanish numbers were presented before the court and assembled guests, after which a formal ball was held in the college dining room, decorated as a Spanish garden. . . . Polly, as you probably recall, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morrissey.

OF INTEREST to Mansfield music lovers should be the concert at Peirce hall, Kenyon college in Gambier at 8:15 o'clock this evening. The Kenyon Singers are appearing in a joint concert with the Flora Stone Mather glee club of Western Reserve university. . . . The program will include works by Handel, Nanino, Bach, Mozart, Debussy and Sibelius, as well as folksongs, sung by each group separately, and a significant work by Johannes Brahms, which will be sung by the two groups together.

WEDDED HERE.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Wagner and Palmer Stonerook of Sandusky were married yesterday in a quiet single ring ceremony at 1 p. m. in the parsonage of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, with Dr. Paul H. Saleste officiating. The couple will reside in Sandusky.

Loudonville Chalks Up Easy Victory In Tournament

Sport Podge by REX HESS

"I wish," moaned Mentor Vern Hoffman of the Mansfield High Tygers, "I wish it were this time next week, or next month, or June 2 or something."

Hoffman lifted a long face that had been cupped in both hands, and looked in vain for sympathy in the grinning faces of Coaches Mehock and Snyder, equipment room custodian "Pop" Elias, and your correspondent.

Then he dropped the noggin back into his hands, and stared disconsolately into space. He had been thinking, of course, of the Tyger chances in the Sandusky tournament, and there was a reason for his gloom.

* * *

"Dick Burkholder's up there on the gym floor with a nose-bleed, Joe Romano's got a cold, Jack Shiplet has a sore leg, Bruce McGinty is sick at home, Al Hager isn't feeling good, and the rest of 'em probably aren't so hot," he mourned.

Then he cut loose with a highly original plaint:

"EVERYTHING HAPPENS TO ME!"

* * *

"Why, you lucky stiff," beamed Snyder, "that's the best sign in the world. They'll be rarin' to go, come Friday night."

"Sure," chimed Mehock, "this time next week you'll be getting ready to take 'em to Columbus."

* * *

"These coaches," said Pop, "are always crying when it comes their turn. But how they can take it when someone else is on the mourner's bench!"

Pop is a bit of a philosopher in his Welsh way.

"Now here," says Pop, "is a story for your column. An old bird goes swimming up the creek, when he turns around, and—"

But Pop's story doesn't go. This is still a family journal.

* * *

He may be Elroy to his folks, and Lightnin' to Mansfield Tyger football fans, but Elroy Lightnin' Jones is just plain "Hoot" to Track Coach Mehock.

It could have been "Hoot Mon," so they tell me, when "Hoot" demonstrated his version of jumpin' jive in high school assembly a few days ago.

* * *

Since the Mansfield Relays of April 19 will be the first big high school track meet in this five-state area, you could say, I suppose, that:

"The Mansfield Relays will start the meet-ball rolling."

You could say it if you had plenty of running room for yourself.

* * *

Comes an invitation to the Perrysville high school basketball banquet, but the bid neglects to say when it's to be held.

It serves to remind me, however, that the knife-and-fork league is in full swing for hoopsters of the area, and that I may have to take up bowling yet, to curb that expanding waist line.

(Not weakenin' there, are ya, son?)

Trosky Changes Mind

Sticks To Left-Handed Stance With Stick.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(U.P.)—Roy Weatherly was in town but this news item from the camp of the Cleveland Indians lost by a shade today to the information that Hal Trosky has abandoned for all major league time the notion that he might hit better right handed against left handed pitching.

* * *

"For a while," Hal said, "I thought it might be a good idea to switch sides up there. Now I know that trying to be a two-sided hitter is more harm than it is good. From now on I'm a left handed hitter against every pitcher."

* * *

Trosky conveyed his sentiments regarding switch hitting to Manager Roger Peckinpaugh and found complete agreement there. Peck is for his men doing whatever they think best.

The big first baseman went hitless yesterday as the Indians lost to the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 2, in their fourth exhibition game of the spring season. His disgrace was depreciated considerably by the fact that the Indians got only five hits, two each by Lou Boudreau and Gee Walker.

Trosky struck out twice and there can be little question that this led him to his decision. He has not been hitting as well as he might down here and he is looking for reasons.

"Guess you can't teach an old dog new tricks," he remarked.

Weatherly, the last Cleveland holdout, was close mouthed about what he intended to ask of C. C. Slapnicka when they meet today.

* * *

"I'm not saying anything except that I weigh 175 pounds and feel good. I expect to see Slapnicka today and we might get it all settled," he said.

* * *

Dewey Adkins, the rookie sensation, is certain to be one of the pitchers today against Kansas City. The other hurlers are dependent on Manager Peckinpaugh's pre-game whims.

Brilliant play in the infield marked the Tribe's stand yesterday against the Cardinals.

Ken Keltner turned in two great stops and throws at third base and the Boudreau-Mack combination clicked for a stunning double play. In addition to that two Cardinals were caught at the plate and that helped to keep the score down.

The Cards obtained a total of 15 hits off Mel Harder, Clint Brown and Joe Heving. Harder was the only hurler to escape unscored upon although his three-inning term yielded five screaming singles.

Tyger Tracksters Given Once-Over

Candidates for the Mansfield High track team were given a physical check-up this week in the school's newly equipped first-aid room by Dr. Leonard Hautzenroeder, who is seen above listening to Louis Nameth's ticker.

Redlegs Have Pennant Fever

'We Want That Third Flag' Says McKechnie.

TAMPA, Fla.—(U.P.)—Manager Bill McKechnie admitted today that the pennant fever virus was already coursing through the collective blood stream of his World Champion Cincinnati Reds.

* * *

"We want that third straight pennant far more than we did the second one," he said after the Reds trounced the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 1, for their fourth victory in five exhibition games.

* * *

"I never wanted anything in baseball as much as another National league championship this year and the players feel the same way about it," he said.

The Reds have made a complete reversal of their sorry performance in the Grapefruit league last spring. Last year they dropped four of their first five exhibition games and played fairly sloppy baseball, especially on the defensive side.

"Last spring, as champions of the National league, the Reds sort of adopted the attitude that we're the champions, try to knock us off, and took their time about getting ready to play ball," McKechnie confessed.

"This year, as holders of the world's championship, the boys came to camp at approximately their proper playing weight, worked hard to attain excellent condition quickly without any urging on my part and are making a real effort to live up to the championship they hold.

* * *

"They mean business about this third straight pennant. They've been in the big money two years in a row, find it a most agreeable situation, wish it to continue and don't want to get into the habit of losing games. So I've not had to urge them to win their exhibition games."

FREMONT FISH RULE FAVORITES

COLUMBUS.—(INS)—Fremont Ross today ruled a top-heavy favorite to cop the state high school swimming championship meet scheduled for the Ohio State university natatorium tomorrow.

McKinley, winner of the Northeastern Ohio title for seven consecutive years, is given an outside chance of winning the crown again although the Bulldog merman lacks the balance as of old.

Pepper Martin Makes Trade

Gives Two Hogs For Diathermy Machine.

By JIMMY CONZELMAN

FULLERTON, Cal.—(INS)—Johnny Leonard "Pepper" Martin, formerly of St. Louis, now Sacramento's new baseball manager, perched himself on the top rail of a hog pen today and made an important decision. Pointing a rain-soaked arm at two Poland China pigs which eyed him dubiously from below, Martin said, "I'll buy 'em. What's the tag say?"

* * *

What Martin proposes to do is trade the two pigs for a diathermy machine. His Sacramento club has a fast infield. It has good hitting and hopeful strength in the box. It even has Johnny Leonard Martin as manager. But it has no diathermy.

Pins Topple In A. B. C. Meet

First Contender Chalks Eight Straight Strikes.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(U.P.)—Scores of the sort you dream about were plentiful last night at the opening of the 41st annual American Bowling Congress.

After Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota had rolled the first ball, 40 five-man teams stepped up to the specially installed alleys in the Municipal auditorium and opened the 55-day tournament.

During the course of the evening six teams bettered the 2,700 mark, meaning probable prize money. The Cedar Inn team of Milwaukee led the field with a total of 2,787.

* * *

In his second game Milton Gardner, Ashland, Wis., who never before had entered A. B. C. competition, rang up the high score of the night—267. He thrilled a crowd of more than 4,000 with eight strikes in succession and led his team, the Ashland Buicks, to high team game of 996.

Most of the bowlers who rolled last night will lead the way in the doubles and singles competition which starts late this afternoon. Tournament officials said more than 29,000 individuals will compete for the meet's $250,000 in prize money before May 6.

Speaker Boosts Relays

Rowe Says Clevelanders Anticipate Competition.

Cleveland high school track coaches look forward to the Mansfield Relays with more interest than to any other meet with the possible exception of the state championships.

That was the word brought to Mansfield's Downtown Coaches last night by Floyd Rowe, director of physical education in Cleveland schools, and an official for the past seven years in the Mansfield event.

* * *

"When Cleveland coaches gather, the first topic of conversation is the Mansfield Relays," declared Rowe. "The only criticism ever heard is that competition in the Mansfield meet is getting too tough, and it would be easier to win championships elsewhere.

* * *

"But always come the answer: Yes, but your boys get more experience, and better experience at Mansfield than anyplace else.

"There are 17 high schools in Cleveland, and at least 14 of them are planning to compete at Mansfield this year."

Rowe addressed the Downtown Coaches at a dinner meeting at the high school at which final plans for the Relays financial drive were discussed.

Committees announced by Relays Chairman W. E. Weygant included:

Assistant chairman — D. O. Meese.

Financial—Ned Brooks and Tom Scott.

Track—Paul Snyder and Vern Hoffman.

Reception—Harvey Bailey and D. O. Meese.

Housing—Ralph Chapman.

Tickets—George Sherman and Jesse Beer.

Trophy—Wilma Snider.

Pep—"M" association and G. A. C. of the high school.

* * *

Ned Brooks, elected president of the Downtown Coaches two months ago, assumed the office last night as Joe Blahnik stepped down from the post he held for the past year.

* * *

DODGERS DIVIDED

HAVANA.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are a divided house today with Coach Chuck Dressen leading half the squad into Miami and Manager Leo Durocher directing the remainder in an exhibition series against the Cuban All-Stars. The two units will rejoin in Florida Sunday night after Durocher's outfit winds up its affairs here.

Red Birds Put Defensive Lid On Eaton Five

Kerekes Klan Klamps Down on First Foe at Kent District Joust

LOUDONVILLE high school's soaring Red Birds passed their initial test in the Kent district cage tournament last night with an easy 41-23 victory over Eaton.

Jack Veach with 12 points and Bud Darling with 15 went on a scoring spree for Coach John Kerekes' Birds, but once more it was the tight Loudonville defense that really decided the tilt for the Central Buckeye league championships.

The Birds clamped down on Eaton in the third quarter, holding their opponents to two points, and coasted through the final period with the second team taking over the chores.

* * *

Kerekes declared today that a much tougher opponent will face the Birds tonight when Loudonville meets Fairport Harbor. 'They play in a tough little league themselves," Kerekes said, "and meet a lot of class A teams during the season. They should be tough." Fairport Harbor drew a first-round bye.

* * *

Loudonville led last night 17-6 at the quarter, 24-14 at the half, and 35-16 at the third quarter.

With form asserting itself fairly consistently in 28 tournament games last night, schoolboy basketball followers girded themselves today for the usual wave of upsets during the thrill-packed final two days of playoffs to select 32 entrants for the state cage classic at Columbus next week.

Every one of seven defending district champions came through a winner last night although a couple of them suffered a few scratches.

* * *

Martins Ferry, a heavy class A favorite in eastern Ohio, barely nosed out Toronto, 36 to 34, in a semi-final contest and Sandusky St. Mary's edged by Webster, 26 to 24, in a Class B semi-final at Fremont.

The other defending titleholders marked up easier triumphs. In Class A, Defiance rolled over Maumee, 51 to 38, and in Class B, Canfield, runnerup in the state meet last year, defeated Mayfield, 41 to 33; Rittman turned back Twinsburg, 32 to 26; Marysville beat Pataskala, 36 to 24, and Hanover tripped Reading, 36 to 30.

Canfield and Rittman have the poor luck to be drawn in the same bracket in the Class B playoffs at Kent and must clash tomorrow night for one berth at Columbus.

Two upsets were marked up last night in contests not involving any defending champions. Monroe, a little school only two years out of Class B enrollment surprised Big Springfield public high school, 33 to 29, in the Class A tourney at Dayton.

Outsized but not outfought, the Monroe battlers built up a 17 to 11 margin at halftime and then staved off a Springfield rush in the final two quarters.

Jammed Gym Seen Tonight

Fans Prepare To Follow Tygers To Tourney.

Another sell-out crowd is expected tonight at the Sandusky District Class A high school basketball tournament when Ashland meets Willard at 7:30 and Mansfield tangles with Fremont at 8:45 in the tourney semi-finals.

* * *

Last week some Mansfielders were unable to get into the tournament hall and had their ticket money refunded. The crowd then was supplied mainly by Bellevue and Tiffin, but even with those schools eliminated, rising interest in the remaining cities points to a jammed gym tonight.

* * *

There'll be a general caravan of Mansfield fans on the road to Sandusky tonight. They have been slow in warming to this 1941 Tyger hoop edition, even as the team was slow in getting started, but the late season rush of Coach Vern Hoffman's hoopsters has finally caught the fancy of the fans.

The great showing made by the Tygers against Canton McKinley's once-beaten Bulldogs in the last scheduled game of the season, and Mansfield's first round victory at Sandusky over Tiffin's once-defeated Columbians has stirred the interest of the bucketball bugs.

Mansfield must be given an even chance against Fremont's Little Giants. Even Fremont experts agree that there's little to choose between the two clubs. Fremont won and lost to Tiffin during their league season and figures to give the Tygers a battle for that spot in the tourney finals.

TAMPA, Fla.—(U.P.)—All-star outfielders on the Cincinnati Reds roster have had the effect of a firecracker under Harry Craft, who played opposite right field to McCormick each year. Craft hit .300 in one year and .344 last season but with the opportunity to play now he has turned out a formidable hitter, a triple and single in two days.

WPA ROLLS OFF AS INDUSTRIAL JOBS INCREASE

510 Workers Assigned Here, Only 125 Wait Jobs In Government Program.

Private employment has absorbed practically all of the available labor in Richland county and with it has lowered the number of men employed on WPA projects, according to an announcement today by J. L. Kelly, manager of the central Ohio WPA district.

Although a waiting list of 125 persons seeking WPA assignments still remains, 510 have been certified by the county relief office to projects now in various stages of construction, Kelly said.

Five projects now operate in the county. They are the Mansfield city water lines, South Boulevard sewers, county roads, state roads and federal aid roads.

Kelly indicated that work on the county and state roads and the South Boulevard project could be speeded if additional workers could be assigned. He also indicated that improvements of Shelby streets could be started April 1 if WPA labor is available.

The district manager said that the work relief program would be curtailed to meet the existing labor load and possibly some projects suspended unless additional certifications are received from the county relief office.

J. V. Finney, relief director, announced that his office still held 125 persons on the WPA assignment waiting list.

NAVAL RESERVE RANKS OPENED

W. G. Cox, chief petty officer in charge of the U. S. Navy recruiting station in Mansfield, announced today 30 men will be enlisted from this district in Class V-2 U. S. Naval Reserve for aviation training.

Aviation vocational or aviation trade school training, or experience through previous employment is required of the applicants. The enlistment period is four years.

It is expected that recruits will be called to active duty before July 1, 1941, and sent for training to an aviation school or to a naval aviation flight activity, Cox said.

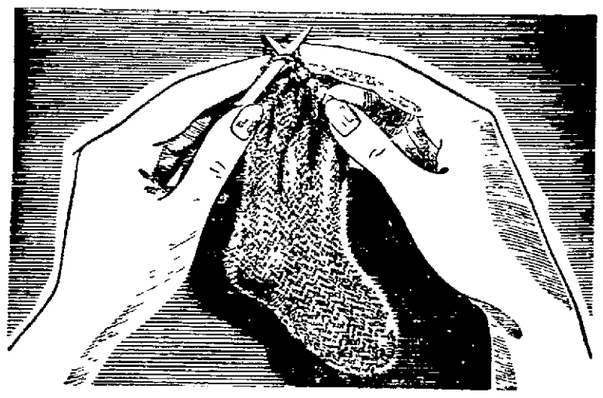
The Importance of

MEAT

When the Stork Hovers



What a glorious time of love and hope and expectancy for the wife . . . those months you wait . . . if you're healthy! . . . What a joy to look forward to — a bouncing, healthy baby. The modern physician is likely to say to expectant mothers: "When you're feeding two, I want you to eat meat!"

THE complete and excellent quality protein in meat has body-building value. Meat helps to repair the worn-out tissues and cells of the body and thus helps to maintain health.

Meat is the also important source of iron in the diet. Iron is necessary to build red blood cells which carry oxygen to all parts of the body. Without enough iron, people become tired easily and may have a tendency to develop anemia in a critical time.

Besides containing so many necessary elements, meat has the savory taste of meat another reason belonging to the expectant mother's diet. Your physician and nurse tell you that a piece of meat a day during pregnancy and during the nursing period.

Seven Good Reasons for Appetizing, Well-Prepared "MEAT ON THE TABLE"

1. Meat for Complete Proteins. 2. Meat for B Vitamins. 3. Meat for Iron and Copper—the good red blood. 4. Meat for Phosphorus—a brain stimulus. 5. Meat for Easy Digestibility. 6. Meat for Palatability. 7. Meat for "Satisfy Value"—lasting satisfaction after the meal.

MARKET SHOWS MILD RECOVERY TENDENCIES

Steel, Rubber Stocks Attract Slight Bidding But Rally Fails To Form.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Recovery tendencies appeared here and there in today's stock market without touching off any real rallying sprint.

Attracting early mild bidding were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Boeing, N. Y. Shipbuilding, and American Telephone.

Rising stamina was lacking for Douglas Aircraft, General Motors and Montgomery Ward. Commodities held to a steady range.

Slackness of selling in the preceding session, brokers said, encouraged some customers to reinstate commitments on the theory the market had already discounted a lot of bad news and might be ready for an upward reversal. On the other hand, enough skepticism remained regarding war developments, taxes and labor disputes, it was suggested, to keep any potential buyers in the conservative ranks.

Market analysts noted reports from industrial centers indicating that, with many plants operating at virtual capacity under the stimulus of expanding armament needs, the uptrend in business has approached levels where the rate of increase is becoming slower and subject to interruptions.

WATCH MEASLES

City Health Officials Told of Outbreak In State.

Although an epidemic of measles is reported sweeping the state with 231 cases since the beginning of the year, Mansfield and Richland county have not yet been affected, Dr. R. C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, announced today.

Only four cases have been reported yet this year, Rehder said. One case occurred in January, one in February and two in March up to the present date. The health commissioner warned, however, that a wave of cases should be expected.

Considering the cyclical character of its occurrence," said Dr. Rehder, "an outbreak of this disease may be expected here this year."

In 1938, a total of 1,274 cases were reported in the city and 684 in the county with one fatality occurring. Three years before, 766 were reported in the city and 313 in the county with two fatalities.

SUFFERED WITH KIDNEY WEAKNESS FOR 5 YEARS; BEE BEE'S GAVE RELIEF
To active Kidneys, which caused swelling in her feet, and limbs and made her stiff and sore. Feet would cramp and swell.
"It is a real pleasure for me to say a good word for your wonderful Bee Bee's, because I've been troubled with my kidneys for 3 years and Bee Bee's is the only medicine that ever relieved me," said Mrs. Leslie Carroll, of R. F. D. 1, Piqua, Ohio.
"I was so very nervous, that the least sound would disturb my rest. Before taking Bee Bee's my nights were all broken up by my nerves and kidneys. I would cramp and at times my feet would swell terribly and the muscles and joints in my legs and arms were so stiff and sore, life was really miserable for me. My back was so stiff and sore, it would feel as if someone had stabbed me whenever I bent over."
"My sleep and rest was broken several times each night by too frequent kidney actions which cause me to get up several times in the night."

"I have never taken anything like Bee Bee's, now I can sleep at night and my pains and nervousness is forgotten and I feel rested. I will fully recommend Bee Bee's as it gave me my wonderful results.

O. S. R. INMATES LOCK UP GUARD AND THEN FLEE

ALL GIVEN PAROLES

Brandishing butcher knives they had stolen from the kitchen, three trusties, all of whom had been granted paroles, overpowered a guard and escaped from the Ohio State reformatory last night.

The trio escaped from the farm dormitory building after locking Guard Fred C. Williams, in a cold storage chamber.

A hastily organized posse of guards attempted to track the trio in the snow without success. No trace of them had been found today as police throughout Ohio continued to search for them.

It was the first escape from the institution since last December, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said.

He identified the fugitives as Ronald Long, 24; James Layton, 26, and Elwood Deckerhoff, 24. Long had been granted a parole effective July 1, and Layton and Deckerhoff, were to have been released Oct. 1.

Long was committed to the reformatory Nov. 19, 1937 from Hamilton county to serve three concurrent sentences of 10 to 25 years; two sentences of from one to 15 years for burglary and larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property.

Layton and Deckerhoff, received Oct. 11, 1938 from Columbiana county, were serving terms of from one to 15 years on charges of assault to rob.

Glattke said the trio slipped from their beds and accosted Williams shortly before midnight while he was making his rounds.

Threatening the unarmed guard with the knives, apparently stolen from the kitchen, they took Williams keys and forced him to accompany them to the basement of the building where he was locked in a cold storage chamber.

They used the keys to unlock a gate on an enclosure which surrounds the building.

The dormitory is located just east of Route 13, about a half mile from the main buildings.

Another trusty phoned an alarm to the guard captain in the main building, but by the time help arrived the prisoners had escaped.

Williams was liberated by another guard, Robert Kyle, who was first to reach the scene.

ORDERED HELD

Girl Involved In Whipping Case In Sheriff's Custody.

ASHLAND — While Rev. William Rooney of St. Edward's Catholic church today awaited his hearing on a whipping charge Tuesday, Virginia Barrett, 16, his alleged victim, was placed in the custody of Sheriff L. D. Hammond.

The girl, who charges the priest whipped her while in the nude with a leather strap, is being held at the county detention home and is allowed to have no visitors, is not permitted to use the telephone and cannot write letters.

Probate Judge S. H. Boffenmyer said yesterday that the girl told him that she had on her pajamis when whipped last Friday. It was at the request of Justice of Peace J. H. Armstrong that the girl was placed in custody.

Prosecutor A. Ross Siverling stated that he had been given to understand that the girl was partially nude at the time of the alleged whipping.

Former Mansfielder, 42 Killed in Collision On U. S. Route 42

Richland county's second fatal traffic accident in two days and the ninth of the year claimed the life last night of A. Ward Palmer, 42, of Marion, former Mansfield advertising agency manager. Only two persons had died in county traffic at the same time last year.

Palmer was fatally injured shortly after 11 p. m. Thursday when his light coupe crashed into the rear of a slowly moving truck on a steep grade on route 42 five miles northeast of Mansfield. Miss Mabel Goodrich, 17, of near Mt. Gilead died in an accident Wednesday night west of the city.

Palmer was dead on arrival at General hospital. Coroner L. B. McCullough said death was almost instantaneous from a broken neck.

Employed by the Jay H. Maish Advertising agency in Marion since March, 1940, Palmer was enroute to Marion from Akron when his car collided with the truck. He was riding alone. State highway patrolmen said the three-lane highway was open for passing to the left of the tractor.

Coal Operators, Union Heads Start Discussions.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Representatives of soft coal operators and of the United Mine Workers met in executive session today to start discussions on a new contract for 450,000 miners of the eight state Appalachian region.

Each side named sub-committees yesterday for the detailed negotiations now under way. A prolonged conference was in prospect as the result of the flat rejection by operators of the union's demand for $1 a day wage increase.

The operators also rejected a proposal by John L. Lewis, head of the union, that if no contract is signed by April 1, the date the present contract expires, work will continue without interruption.

Greenberg, Unfit for Draft, Signs $50,000 Tiger Contract

DETROIT—(INS)—Hank Greenberg, slugging outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, has been declared "unfit" for military service because of "flat feet," the Detroit Times said today in a special dispatch from Tiger training camp.

Greenberg was examined at Lakeland, Fla., by Dr. Grover C. Freeman, draft board doctor.

Simultaneously, it was revealed that Greenberg signed his 1941 contract today for a reported $50,000 after a long distance telephone conversation with Owner Walter O. Briggs who is in Miami Beach, the story said. Greenberg reportedly received $45,000 last year.

Dr. Freeman, the story said, will recommend that Hank—current home run king in the American league—be placed in class 1B which would make him available for "limited military service."

The physician, who examined Hank at the request of his Detroit board, will come to Detroit to explain his findings to Greenberg's draft board, it was said. Hank was draft number 621 and was due to be called up sometime next month.

Army Man Hurt as Truck And Cycle Crash In City

Clevelander Injured As Cavalry Unit Passes Through Mansfield En Route to Camp; Continues Trip.

(Picture on Page 7)

A member of a cavalry unit en route from Cleveland to Camp Forest, Tenn., was injured and his motorcycle was wrecked this morning when it collided with a coal truck at the intersection of South Main and Second streets.

Injured was Private Charles Carmony, who suffered severe lacerations and bruises about the legs in the crash. He was released from General hospital after treatment.

The accident occurred while a 107th cavalry company unit was passing through the city. Police said that although they had given escort to two units this week, that this being a small group, none had been requested.

The unit, composed of two army truck and six motorcycles, was proceeding through the city with sirens sounding. At Second street, the last cycle, in which Carmony was riding in a sidecar collided with the truck.

William Sampsel, driver of the truck, owned by the H. and H. Coal company, told police that he was going with a green light when the accident happened.

The damaged cycle was placed in one of the army trucks and after Carmony had been treated, the unit proceeded on its route.

Carmony was riding in the cycle's sidecar when the crash came. The driver was not injured but Carmony's legs were pinned in the small car and he was thrown forward on his face.

His program tonight will be varied and he will be assisted by Carroll Hollister, accompanist.

Meanwhile, as the fourth Civic music season draws to a close tonight the membership campaign committee will launch its fifth annual drive. During the intermission at the Thomas concert, association members will have an opportunity to turn in their cards as a request for renewal of membership.

Further plans for the membership campaign are being arranged by Mrs. Paul Cropper, chairman, who will be assisted by six captains and 125 workers.

The annual campaign dinner will be held Monday night at Grace Episcopal church in charge of Mrs. Stanley Richardson. Mrs. Mercedes Walker, NBC talent bureau, will attend.

SPEED WORK ON BRITISH AID FUNDS MEASURE

Committee Expects To Complete Preliminary Work Today on Bill.

BILL GETS TOP POSITION

BNLLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Secretary Stimson said today that some defense material to be transferred to Great Britain under the lend-lease act already had started to its destination. For the moment, the secretary of war withheld details.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Given "very enthusiastic endorsement" by Secretaries Hull, Stimson and Knox, the $7,000,000,000 lease-lend appropriation bill advanced rapidly today through the preliminary phase of legislative consideration.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt, speaking over all radio chains, will address the nation from 9:30 to 10 p. m. EST tomorrow night on his aims under the lease-lend program, it was announced at the White House today.

Chairman Woodrum (D.-Va.) said his house appropriations subcommitte hoped to finish its hearings on the measure during the day—thus completing in two days its deliberations on the largest appropriation in peacetime history.

The bill already has acquirred the No. 1 position on the house calendar for next Tuesday, and its passage by Wednesday night was generally forecast.

There was a conspicuous lack of outspoken opposition either in house or in the senate. Most of the critical comment heard concerned whether the full $7,000,-

DENIES CHARGE

Letizia Pleads Innocent To Threat Letter Indictment.

Joseph Letizia, 50, of 381 Wayne street, pleaded innocent in Cleveland today to a federal indictment charging he sent threatening letters to another Mansfielder in an attempt to extort $3,000.

He was released on continuance of his $1,500 bond for trial later. No date has been set for the hearing.

Letizia, a former state liquor store employe, is accused of attempting to extort $3,000 from Joe Ferrise, Third street market merchant.

He was arrested here last November by police and federal agents after an 18-month investigation. He was alleged to have written the letters in March 1939.

Nazis Pound Glasgow as British Reply

Hamburg Hit In Second Night Raid As Both Sides Claim Planes Are Bagged; Battle Continues to Rage Around Tepeleni.

(By Associated Press)

Roaring through the clear, moonlight skies of early spring, German bombers pounded the great Clydebank shipbuilding yards at Glasgow, Scotland, and other British targets during the night, while British raiders lashed again at Hamburg, Germany, in the furiously renewed war in the air.

Germans said more than 50 patients and nurses were "dead and buried" beneath the wreckage of two Hamburg hospitals, but declared five British bombers were shot down. It was the second successive nocturnal attack on the great German port city.

The British said their night fighters bagged eight German raiders in violent Nazi attacks on Glasgow, Liverpool, London and other parts of the embattled island, bringing to 20 the number of German warplanes reported destroyed since nightfall Wednesday.

The raid on the big shipbuilding yards along the River Clyde was the first the Germans have attempted on a large scale since the war began, but the attack on Liverpool was the second in as many nights. The British acknowledged "some industrial buildings and houses" damaged at Glasgow.

There was little other action on the far-flung war fronts, except in Albania, where the Greeks said waves of fresh Fascist troops flung themselves vainly at their lines in an effort to obey Premier Mussolini's reported decree to his generals to "do something" by tomorrow.

The battle around Tepeleni on the central front, principal objective of the Greek forces since early December, now has raged furiously for seven days and nights, dispatches from the front said.

The Italian high command reported 'local infantry and artillery actions" in the mountain fighting and asserted that Fascist warplanes "followed one another without interruption against enemy defense works and troops."

The daily Rome war bulletin also reported that "enemy" torpedo-launching planes attempted to attack Italian steamers in the Bay of Valona harbor—major port of entry for Fascist war supplies in Albania—but that "violent fire" drove off the raiders and shot down two planes.

In East Africa, the Italian communique said, British attacks in

PREDICTS QUICK BRITISH VICTORY

Admiralty Head Says Empire Must Hang on Until U. S. Aid Arrives.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — A British victory "will not only be certain—it will be quick," if the empire can hold on until American aid is received, First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander declared today.

"You can not win this national struggle except on the basis of 100 per cent national cooperation," Alexander told a parliament press luncheon.

"We are facing perhaps the most crucial stage of the war in which the navy is called upon to play a very great part."

Minister of shipping Ronald H. Cross told the Engineers Institute:

"I say frankly we are going to be faced with a really hard struggle at sea this year."

Churchill Asks Shipping Aid

LONDON —(U.P.)— Prime Minister Winston Churchill today asked "urgent" aid from the United States in meeting Britain's vital shipping needs.

He announced that small trouble-shooting missions would be dispatched to the United States immediately to handle shipping and food aid to Britain under President Roosevelt's lease-lend measure.

"In no sphere of the war," said a statement from No. 10 Downing street, "is the help which the United States government can give us under the lend-lease legislation more urgent than that of shipping."

At the same time it was announced that Lord Woolton, food minister, would send a small mission headed by Robert H. Brand, banking industrial expert, to the United States to discuss arrangements to obtain food stuffs under the lease-lend bill.

FATHER OF 5 KILLED

CLEVELAND —(AP) —A fall beneath the wheels of a truck-trailer was fatal to Mike Waskiewicz, 54, father of five children.

OFF FOR CAMP

59 Selectees From County To Leave Mansfield Tomorrow.

Fifty-nine selectees and volunteers, second largest group to leave Richland county since military induction began last fall, will leave at 8 a. m. Saturday for Ft. Hayes, Columbus, to join the army.

The contingent was to have included 61 men, but two of them, William Hallam and Russell Ferrell, both of Mansfield, were deferred for occupational reasons. It was impossible to give replacements the necessary notice, Todd Patton, Board 1 clerk, said.

The men will go in two buses, leaving the Mansfield bus depot. At Ft. Hayes they will receive their final physical check-up before they are sent to camp for a year's training.

Preparing for anticipated heavy quotas in April, the three county selective service boards today called 39 men for physical examinations at the Mansfield Armory.

CAUGHT IN ICE

Motorship Delayed On First Run Across Lake Erie.

SANDUSKY—(AP)—The motorship Mascot ran into difficulties on its first run of the season between Sandusky and Kelleys Island and it took 15 men to rescue the boat from an ice field.

Fifteen men walked across the ice from Put-in-Bay and rocked the 64-foot vessel until it cracked a channel into the harbor.

Stork Will Arrive at Home Of Blondie and Dagwood Soon

Here's news. Important news. And it will result in a lot of changes being made. Monday, April 7, the most celebrated average man who ever lived in Mansfield, Dagwood Bumstead, will become a father for a second time.

In case you didn't know, which seems unlikely, Dagwood Bumstead is the father in the daily News-Journal comic strip, "Blondie," one of the most popular funnies in the country. "Blondie," of course, is Dagwood's wife.

It has been whispered for some time that the Bumsteads were "infanticipating." But it was officially announced this week that the new sister (it will definitely be a girl) will arrive at the Bumstead home April 7, just a week and a day before the birthday of Alexander Bumstead, known to the family as Baby Dumpling.

That will make it a boy and a girl for the Bumsteads. The news of the forthcoming Miss B. was announced by Chic Young, author of the Bumsteads, through an article in a magazine last week.

Young indicated that a name has not been chosen yet, though the event is less than a month away. But the big news is that the pangs of fatherhood are a serious matter, and for the next few weeks until that, to be, celebrated day it would be best to treat Dagwood's foibles more kindly than usual. After all, being a father is an important matter.

NEW BOOK AT LIBRARY TELLS STORY OF WAR

'Cheerfulness Breaks In' Deals With Life In England During Present Conflict.

Many familiar characters and some new ones appear in Angela Thirkell's novel about Barsetshire during the present war in England, which has just been added to the shelves at the Mansfield Public library. In this volume, "Cheerfulness Breaks In," Mr. and Mrs. Birkett, with great relief, marry off Rose. The supply of petrol is limited, evacuee children from London are clothed and fed, while profiteers, clergymen, lady writers, schoolmasters, refugees and many others pursue their somewhat distracted, yet fairly level way, regardless of the blackouts and air raids. The trivial daily matters are presented here with charm and a delicate malice which is very entertaining.

Recent Fiction:

BENJAMIN BLAKE by Edison Marshall has for its setting eighteenth century England, with its brutality, its outspoken lustiness, its strapping zest for life; the heaving deck of a sailing vessel rounding Cape Horn; the green enchantment of a South Sea Island paradise, and a hero whose early hardships and struggles have nourished in him a flaming hatred for injustice. It is a hotblooded tale of courage and high resolve.

TWO FEET FROM HEAVEN by Percival Christopher Wren, the author of Beau Geste, is a fascinating, unusual and deeply moving human story which reveals the conflict between good and evil in the soul of a man. The drama is unfolded in a series of flashbacks and in Richard Neystoke's grudging confessions to the Matron of a nursing home where he goes when the burden of his conscience becomes unbearable.

Other fiction:

MEDICAL CENTER by Cuthrell.

SAINT IN MIAMI, Charteris.

GRAVEYARD NEVER CLOSES, Davis.

New nonfiction:

Irvin S. Cobb tells his life story in a new book, EXIT LAUGHING. Recognized as a famous newspaperman, a short-story writer, and a humorist, he is, in addition, one of the most popular lecturers and after-dinner speakers of today. And, when we consider that he has also written movies and acted in them, and had his own radio program, it is no wonder that his autobiography should contain more good stories to the square inch than any other you can name.

THE CARIBBEAN by W. A. Roberts is the story of our sea of destiny. Its epic history sweeps through more than four centuries of discovery, conquest, settlement, revolution and development. Spanish conquistadores, privateers and freebooters of northern Europe, the fabulous buccaneers, the scourging pirates—all march through the pages of the book which also contains fascinating chapters on the bloodstained history of Florida, the founding of Louisiana, the conquest of yellow fever and the building of the Panama Canal. Throughout the author emphasizes the vital, strategic significance of the Caribbean in relation to the United States.

WHITE WATER AND BLACK MAGIC by Richard Gill is an engrossing account of how a deadly poison is proving a vital medical discovery. The poison is curare. Ten years ago the author and his wife operated a dude ranch in Ecuador. An accident which left Mr. Gill paralyzed turned his thoughts to the medical uses of the Indian poison curare, and when after four years he was well enough to travel, he went once more to the jungle to pursue the search. His last expedition brought back enough curare for large-scale medical research, the fruits of which bid fair to rank with the discovery of insulin in medical history.

The latest volume in the 'Rivers of America Series" is the KAW, by Floyd Benjamin Streeter. The story of the Kaw, known to the outside world as the Kansas River, opens simultaneously with that of the trails which led from its mouth westward across the prairie—the trails of the Forty-niners and the Santa Fe traders, of cattle, and gun battles, of farmers and crop failures.

HIKE 150 MILES FOR THEIR FUEL

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(U.P.)—For more than 100 years Philadelphia has had a community forest tract of 6,800 acres to supply fuel for poor inhabitants, but indigents trying to obtain wood run into a really tough transportation problem.

The forest is located on the west branch of the Susquehanna river at Keating, more than 150 miles from the city.

The woodland acreage was bequeathed to Philadelphia by Elias Boudin, American patriot and philanthropist, in 1821, "to provide a fuel supply for poor Philadelphians."

CRIMSON FACE

Soldier's Blushes Prove Undoing In Purse Snatching.

NEWARK, N. J.—(INS)—George F. Secor, a 16-year-old soldier from Governors Island, found his way to jail—all because he blushes.

It all happened when he was being questioned in connection with a series of purse snatchings in Newark.

Secor was identified by Miss Bettie Weintraub as the youth who robbed her of a pocketbook at the entrance of her home here.

He appeared at her office to return a key ring, which had been in her purse and which, he said, he had found.

As he handed over the key ring, he blushed. It was at that moment that Miss Weintraub recognized the youth. For, she said, "he was blushing when he held me up, too."

Rabbit's Nest Found In Tree At High Level

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(UP)—Discovery of a nest of cotton tail rabbits 12½ feet up an inclined tree on Grand Island is reported by Prof. Albert R. Shadle and two of his assistants in the University of Buffalo biology department.

In an article in an issue of the Journal of Mammalogy, Prof. Shadle and his assistants describe how they found the nest on the east side of the island, which lies in the Niagara river between the United States and Canada.

The biological group was climbing a willow to photograph the nest of a mourning dove when they came upon a nest of grass in a crotch containing five young rabbits. Because of the 48-degree inclination of the hole, the adult rabbit had to travel 12½ feet from the ground to reach her nest.

Prof. Shadle said that within a week all the young rabbits had left the nest.

Recent literature contains numerous references to groundhogs, foxes and other terrestial animals seen in trees, but this is believed to be the first nest of cottontails found at so great a height.

CCC Turned Out 60,000 Trained Drivers In 1940

PORTLAND, Ore. — (INS) — Sixty thousand fully trained and experienced truck and tractor drivers were turned out by the CCC throughout the United States during 1940, according to F. H. Brundage, associate regional forester in Portland.

A total of 15,000 others were trained as automotive mechanics; 7,500 were instructed in bridge building; 8,000 in the use of explosives; and 5,000 in cooking and baking.

Others were trained as surveyors, draftsmen, radio operators, welders and a score of other crafts.

During the seven and one-half years the CCC has been in existence the corps has planted more than two billion trees, has spent 6,000,000 man-days fighting forest fires, and has built 5,500,000 dams for soil conservation, Brundage declared.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1941.

News from over the country is to the effect that state expenses are not going down—if that is news.

It appears that the Nazis were so peeved over passage of the lend-lease bill that they have decided to kill more English civilians.

A judge advises: "Don't expect too much of your children"—possibly thinking that there can't be any great improvement from one generation to the next.

Combining Two Proposals

OUT of the discussion of a substitute protective agency during the absence of national guardsmen from the state, an idea is developing which impresses many as being quite practicable.

Two proposals have been under consideration by the legislature, one being to increase the state highway patrol to 500 members, with full police powers, and the other to set up a state-wide home guard organization of four to five thousand former national guardsmen and members of the American Legion.

A newer thought which has grown out of the consideration of these proposals is to combine the two ideas by increasing the state highway patrol personnel to 300 or 350 men and also to form volunteer home guard groups over the state, to an approximate total of 1,000 to 1,500 men who have had military training and who would be subject to call in the event of disaster or other emergency need.

Some enlargement of the state highway patrol is justified by the past record of this organization and consideration of increasing need for traffic law enforcement. Conditions also warrant giving full police authority to these trained men, for co-operation with city and county law enforcement agencies in the pursuit and apprehension of criminals.

Increasing the state highway patrol to 500, however, would involve a considerable item of permanent cost, as there would be little likelihood of a reduction after national guardsmen return, while the home guard force could be immediately disbanded when there was no longer a need for it.

The senate yesterday passed a bill to create an Ohio state guard of from 1,000 to 4,800 officers and men, with regulations similar to those of the national guard but not subject to call for service outside the state. The house is considering a bill to increase the highway patrol. It would appear that these two measures could be co-ordinated in such a way that both agencies could work together when occasion arises.

Honduras Pledges Friendship

HONDURAS will work hand in hand with the United States to the limit of its abilities and its peculiar geographical advantages, in any necessary program for the military, naval and aerial defense of North and Central America and of the Panama Canal." So said President Tiburcio Carias Andino to an American interviewer.

Most people in the United States know little about Honduras or whether its proffered co-operation means much. Some of the assets its president names are rapid transport for civil and military purposes across the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from north to south. Two air lines maintain daily service, with adequate airports throughout the country. There is also a network of excellent roads.

Honduras has a military school of aviation, a well trained army and national guard, a shipyard, and so on.

The main thing, however, is the spirit. President Andino said, "Honduras hopes that war will not come to the Americas. However, if the challenge is unavoidable, Honduras, its administration, its army and its people will stand shoulder to shoulder with its great northern neighbor, and Honduras' co-operation will not be ineffective."

The more all the American neighbors come to feel like that about each other, the less will be the danger to them from any part of the world.

Our Second State Senator

THE FACT that this senatorial district now has two state senators, instead of one, which is ordinarily the case, may account for our new Senator Jameson so frequently taking umbrage because of not being consulted about one thing or another.

This happened a few weeks ago when Senator Jameson delayed confirmation of the appointment of Harry Hawley on the state liquor board, and again yesterday when he cast the only dissenting vote on a bill introduced by his colleague, Senator Rogers, intended to correct an error in Lorain county municipal court procedure.

Senator Jameson, as the "1" in a 33 to 1 vote on the bill, is quoted as having said that he "didn't know a damn thing about it."

In the interests of harmony, and also to demonstrate that this district can get along with two senators as well as one, it may be suggested that "somebody tell Senator Jameson these things." But also it might be well for Mr. Jameson not to take himself too seriously.

Preserving Minority Rights

THE American republic, or "democracy" as it has been called in recent years, is based on two opposing principles that sometimes come into collision.

The first of them is majority rights—the right of the majority to rule.

The second is minority rights—the right of a minority to object or criticise. Our Constitution and normal practice make a safe balance of these rights.

Without the first principle, majority rule, our free government could not operate at all. The French republic broke up into such a multiplicity of parties that majority rule became impossible and government became the football of transient minorities, and the end was chaos and slavery.

Without the second principle, minority rights, majorities could abuse their power and tyrannize over citizens not agreeing with them.

It is no less dangerous when a minority party undertakes arbitrarily to block action by a majority party than it is when a majority party undertakes arbitrarily to stifle a minority.

The seldom-heard-of state of Delaware is attaining unusual prominence by enforcing almost forgotten blue laws—apparently to remind legislators that such laws are still on the statute books.

A new type of concrete handles in less than five hours—during which time the neighborhood dogs should be tied up.

Strike Stoppage of Defense Work

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — The newspaper men who attend President Roosevelt's press conferences are getting a little tougher, as time passes, on the importance to national defense of the labor troubles in industries working on U. S. or British war orders.

The president's retort about never more than one-quarter of one per cent of the defense production being tied up by strikes at any one time did not end the questioning at a recent conference. Nor was the White House attempt to put blame on the press for alarming the country about a "breakdown" of defense preparations taken very much to heart by the reporters.

* * *

PUTTING their heads together afterwards, one group of reporters decided that this "one-quarter of one per cent" was much more deceptive than anything the newspapers had printed. One reporter figured out that the Allis Chalmers strike alone was lying up more than one-third of one per cent of all national defense orders. A curious part about this was that the reporter who made this calculation started the argument by defending the president's statement of "one-quarter of one per cent" as accurate.

Inasmuch as this one strike had been running for more than six weeks on the day the president made the statement, and inasmuch as there were quite a number of other strikes in national defense industries during that six weeks, it would seem that there must have been some rather extraordinary mathematics on the part of whoever gave the president that figure.

"Sounds like Sidney Hillman to me," said one reporter. "He doesn't want anything done about strikes, so he minimizes their importance."

But there is another side to it, which has little to do with percentages. It may be very interesting to know the exact percentage in any given case, but a war is a contest in which one side usually wins, and the other loses. It is not a case of whether either of the combatants makes a passing mark, as in an academic course.

To make the point clear in this case, let us assume for a moment that the possible invasion of the United States about which so much has been said does come about, and the Gettysburg of this contest would be an air battle. Let us further assume that this air battle was desperately close—as indeed Gettysburg was—and that when it was over the winner had only a few score of planes left, and the loser none.

* * *

NOW let's go back to this strike situation. Suppose there is a strike in a factory making airplanes, or a plant producing the engines for them, or the aluminum, or whatnot. And suppose as a result of that strike this country has 100 less airplanes on the day of that battle than it would have had had there been no strike.

It might easily make the difference between this country's being conquered and its emerging triumphant, and yet that strike might not figure as one-tenth of one per cent of our national defense production at the time it was raging.

Far fetched? Perhaps, and yet war after war in history has been decided by smaller items than that. There are those who think that if Napoleon had known about the sunken road at Waterloo he would have won that battle. If the Confederates had possessed 50 breech-loading cannon, instead of only two, at Gettysburg, they would have driven the Federals back without the necessity for Pickett's charge, and Lee could have marched to New York.

Your 'Bad Luck'

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHERE did that bad blunder of yours start? When did that rankling feud, which has poisoned your life for so long, first get going?

Did it start in some wrong done you, some unfair burden laid upon you? Chances are you think so, as most of us do. But you're wrong. Our messes and miseries rarely start from outside—

They start in our own imagination.

They start in that distant day when we first allow ourselves to think of hate or revenge, jealousy, desire, fear or self-pity.

CUSSEDNESS IS ALWAYS PREMEDITATED.

It always springs from some seed long sown in the secret places of our own hearts. We may not consciously realize that we have sown that seed or are nurturing it. But some day that hidden thought will spring into sudden and dreadful action which may warp our whole lives.

John McConkey has said, "The place to meet sin is at the gateway of the imagination."

That's true of good as well as evil. We are what we think. The table beside you was built first in some man's imagination, before it ever took on tangible form. The utilities you use formed vaguely in someone's vision years before they found their place on a blueprint.

The secret for discoveries which have halted the once ghastly epidemics of yellow fever and diphtheria were once dim speculations. And, by the same token, every crime in the calendar started in the same way, long before it found physical expression. All creation, all action, for good or evil, begins at that "gateway of the imagination."

You wonder sometimes what you'll be doing a year or ten years from now. You'll be doing what you are imagining today! You'll be as brave or as cowardly, as true or as tricky, as gay or as grouchy, as virtuous or vile, as today's secret thought.

You're always looking for an opportunity to "make something of yourself." But you are making something of yourself every second of your life . . . you are building your own record . . . fixing your own fate . . . by the thoughts you think.

And that building process extends beyond your own mind and body. It influences your environment; it determines your good or bad luck.

Stop worrying so much about your looks, your etiquette, your personality. Keep watch instead of that seemingly unimportant thought which is slinking into your consciousness . . . striking root . . . beginning to grow. There at "the gateway of your imagination" your life is being formed.

GUARD THAT GATE!

Plan to Unite Merchant Shipping, Will Try Voluntary Control First

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—When Harry Hopkins reported to Roosevelt that the most urgent British need is cargo ships, he started a series of moves that are destined to have far-reaching consequences on U. S. shipping.

In process behind the scenes is the establishment of a tie-up between the U. S. Maritime Commission and the British Ministry of Shipping, under which the merchant fleets of both nations will in effect operate as a single co-ordinated unit. That is, British bottoms will be withdrawn from Pacific and African routes, and U. S. ships will take their place.

This would give the British some cargo vessels desperately needed to carry the war materials soon to pour from the U. S., and at the same time enable the U. S. to obtain rubber, chromite, tungsten, wool, and other strategic commodities without being dependent on British ships.

However, while the advantages are apparent, the plan will entail some drastic changes in the control of U. S. shipping.

The British war government now has an iron grip on all its shipping. They first tried to regulate their merchant fleet by a licensing, or priority, system; but this soon proved unsatisfactory. When Churchill came into power the government bluntly requisitioned all vessels.

The U. S. took similar action during the World war, but until Hopkins' return from London, defense authorities had given little thought to the problem beyond the construction of more bottoms. But they have been doing a lot of thinking about it since.

* * *

U. S. Requisitioning?

IT WAS direct White House prodding that was behind the little-noticed Maritime Commission order instituting a "voluntary" system of priorities for the 747 vessels constituting the U. S. merchant fleet. Under this order, the commission will "advise" the ship lines on the routes and cargoes they will handle.

Through this so-called "voluntary" regulation, the government's control is admittedly mild—and also experimental. If proven ineffectual as the shipping crisis grows, then the lines can depend on it that the reins will be tightened.

The days when ships plying the Far Eastern routes could load up with luxury cargoes at fancy rates, leaving behind bulky and less profitable shipments of strategic raw materials needed for defense, are definitely over. From now on, U. S. merchant ships are going to carry the kind of cargoes defense authorities want them to haul.

It is not generally known, but under the law the Maritime Commission has the power to requisition all U. S. merchant vessels.

Note—Significant recent comment by Maritime Commissioner Howard Vickery, an ex-navy officer: "The emergency needs of a nation are not consonant with private ship operation."

* * *

Strip-Teased Diplomats.

ANN CORIO, the intriguing strip-teaser, has written a book, "Men, Gentlemen, and Others," one section of which deals with certain members of the Washington diplomatic set.

Word of this has reached Europe, where two diplomats who were once rivals for Ann's favor have forgotten their rivalry in a joint effort to suppress the embarrassing chapter.

One of them is Prince Marcello del Drago, former first secretary of the Italian embassy; the other, Baron Paul Schell, one-time secretary of the Hungarian legation. Friends of the prince and the baron say they had thought at the time that they were making friends with a dancer—not an authoress.

* * *

New Nepotists.

ALTHOUGH they have been in Washington only a couple of months, a number of the newcomers on Capitol Hill already have found their way to the gravy bowl. They are catching on fast.

Eleven of the new congressmen have members of their families ensconced on the congressional pay-roll. Here is the list:

Senate—Hugh A. Butler, Nebraska Republican; niece, Eleanor Johnson, stenographer, $1,800.

House of Representatives—Philip A. Bennett, Missouri Republican: son, Marion, secretary, $3,700.

C. W. Bishop, Illinois Republican: son, Jack, stenographer, $2,500.

J. Edgar Chenoweth, Colorado Republican: son, William, clerk, $1,600.

James Domengeaux, Louisiana Democrat: brother, Jerome, clerk, $1,300.

William J. Fitzgerald, Connecticut Democrat; wife, Katherine, clerk, $1,860.

Walter K. Granger, Utah Democrat; wife, Hazel, clerk, $850.

Lawrence E. Imhoff, Ohio Democrat; wife, clerk, $1,200.

Augustine B. Kelley, Pennsylvania Democrat; son, Richard, clerk, $2,000.

George A. Paddock, Illinois Republican; son, George, jr., secretary, $1,400.

Total "take" for the group, $20,610.

Note—In fairness to the newcomers, however, it should be noted that they still are a long way from catching up with such veteran nepotists as Gene Cox of Georgia and Bernard Gehrmann of Wisconsin, who have a number of relatives on the government pay-roll.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

DEMOCRATIC politicos who ducked during the third-term campaign are getting a cool reception at Democratic national committee. Plain-talking Chairman Ed Flynn, who knows who pitched and who didn't, told a Nebraskan looking for favors: "You didn't help the president when he needed you last fall and I don't see how you can ask him to give you any patronage now." . . . The Student Defenders of Democracy is out to prove that not all college students are pacifists or isolationists. Leader of the new movement is Dorothy Overlook, University of Chicago graduate. . . . The justice department made headlines with its recent two-way legal attack on the Aluminum Company of America, but it was an old story to William B. Chantland, general counsel of the federal trade commission. A pioneer in trust-busting, Chantland won an anti-monopoly decision against Alcoa 29 years ago, as a young justice department attorney.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Tony Camerano sat facing a typewriter. His face was tortured by thought. Typewriters are a little out of Tony's line, but if you hand him a camera—that is another matter.

For Tony is one of the AP's crack news photographers, and, as all news photographers who belong to the Press Photographers Association of New York are doing now, he was sorting out the evidence of his work during 1940 for the 6th annual photo exhibit, to get under way during the closing days of March.

"What is the matter with you, Tony?" I ask him. He pointed to a stack of 11x14 news pictures—all beautifully printed on double-weight mat paper.

"Titles," said Tony, "it's titles. I'm having trouble."

* * *

HE TOSSED me a picture of a blazing inferno on the Brooklyn waterfront — a lumberyard fire—which he had photographed last year. There were fatalities in that fire, if you will recall.

"What'll I call it?"

This reporter was no help to him whatever. Finally he named it "Smoke clouds of death." Not bad. That is what they were. And a title was essential. All photographs must bear a title.

Another, perhaps the best sports shot he took all year, was a fist fight between Umpire George Magerkurth, of the National League, and a Brooklyn fan. The story made headlines at the time, but then Brooklyn stories are always making headlines, and Brooklyn fans are always swinging. This unknown admirer of the Dodgers was incensed at one of Magerkurth's decisions. The Dodgers were playing Cincinnati. Finally the fan jumped Magerkurth, who, by the way, is very good with his fists. It is a fine informal shot of the manly art, and Tony titled it "Lumps for the Ump."

* * *

ANOTHER of his sports specials was a close-up of Tony Galento and Max Baer in a hairy embrace, with Galento puffing pain and anguish and savageness through his puffed lips. This was called "Blow Me Down."

In all, some 150 New York news photographers will be represented. Each man enters from 10 to 20 pictures. Plaques and similar honors are awarded to the winning contestants. Though no money is involved, it is one of the most enthusiastically and keenly followed exhibits of its kind.

* * *

The script writer for the Kate Smith shows is a girl—Joan Holloway. . . . There is a new restaurant in 2nd avenue that has three-cornered "milking stools" for chairs, and all the milk you can drink is free—if you order a plate luncheon. There is also an honor-system restaurant in 42nd street. You go in, eat what you want—all items are priced—then tell the cashier how much you owe her, pay it, and walk out. Nobody checks up on anybody.

* * *

Crosby Gaige, who used to be famous as a Broadway producer (his last hit was "Accent on Youth") is now best known for his miracles of food that he cooks up in the kitchen. He practices this art in the garage-kitchen of his country place, near Peekskill, N. Y. writes about it in the newspapers and magazines of the world.

As Others See It

Does Seem Odd.

Another curious thing is that the pay is a dollar an hour for making munitions to shoot with, and a dollar a day for being the target.—Ohio State Journal.

Then the Deluge.

Such is the weather in Hollywood, they think this might be a spot to shoot a sequel to that other success—to be known as "The Rains Came, and Came."—Detroit News.

Grab Bag

One-Minute Test.

1. How does coffee grow?
2. Did other candidates receive votes for the presidency and vice presidency of the Confederacy when Jefferson Davis and Alexander H. Stephens were elected to office?
2. What pieces of furniture originated in America?

Words of Wisdom.

Cheerful looks make every dish a feast, and that it is which crowns a welcome.—Massinger.

Hints on Etiquette.

If you are invited out to dinner or for the evening and a casual caller drops in "for a moment," it is only courteous to your hostess-to-be and to the caller to explain to the latter that while you are delighted to see him, you have a previous engagement which must be kept.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. On coffee trees. The fruit of the tree, when ripe, is of a dark scarlet color, resembling a cherry, and usually contains two seeds inclosed in a tough membrane, each seed or berry being covered with a thin covering.
2. No. These two men, president and vice president of the Confederacy, received all the votes of the 11 states that voted.
3. The butterfly table, combbacked Windsor chair and the rocking chair.

A Farmer's Diary

Underminer

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ABOVE the slope in the thicker woods, I came across a sunken white oak stump. I had seen it many times before—upon a rise, much higher than other stumps of trees cut more recently. A mat of green briers sheltered the northern side. In summer this portion was always damp, and when I drew the thorny vines away, mantle fungi were feeding greedily upon the decaying wood.

The tree must have been cut at least 15 years ago. No trace of bark was left, and great seams were made in the once evenly hewn top by rain and heat and frost. The sides had creases of worm-eaten pulp. The massive lifeless roots were sheared off by decay close to the base of the trunk.

Beneath the stump generations of woodchucks had made their home. The old lookouts were flattened thin. Thick matted turf and woodland moss had grown on these edges. Those older tribes of groundhogs must have been a husky bunch. Four feet away I saw fragments of weathered native shale that would weigh two pounds lying about the ancient settled mounds. For years the woodchuck family had gnawed the roots and excavated deeper beneath the old stump.

Only today fresh dirt had been carried out. I estimated that another cubic foot was mounded there, and now the stump was sunken. They must have undermined too well, I thought.

With a heavy pry and a short log for a fulcrum, I rolled the loosened tree butt upside down. In the cavity beneath, I saw the layer of rotted wood and leaves move slowly and when I scratched deeper with my fingers I came upon a mass of drab gray fur.

The body of the woodchuck was all but lifeless. The heavy stub of the sinking central stump had caught his none too agile body and held him there, a prisoner until death.

He had dug his own grave.

Fugitive on a Dude Ranch + +

By Stephen Payne

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER XXXIII

"Barclay, or what ever your real name is," Nancy went on, "your expression just now when you saw these jewels stripped off your mask. Furthermore, a certain can of beans labelled, 'Wise Guy,' and the Maxwell package labelled 'Rat' and 'Double Crosser,' left where your car had been parked, have told me a great deal more about you than I'd already surmised. Suppose you prove to Chalk Crowder that you're a detective. . . . Go ahead and pin something on Don Sturgis if you can."

Smoothie loosened his apparently much-too-tight collar. "You got nothing on me, Miss Smith," he muttered. Then in a louder, more defiant tone, "Neither have you, Inspector Alfred E. Lovejoy," turning toward the stranger. "And wouldn't you like to have me on the spot! Miss Smith, I've still got an ace in the hole so I can send Cinders Malloy Sturgis up the river."

At last John William Smith had appeared at the door, but although he could see his niece, he made no atatempt to reach her side. With an unlighted cigar clamped between his teeth, he stood surveying the scene much as any sane man might look at the inmates of a lunatic asylum.

"Ain't you never goin' to speak nor do anything, Mr. Lovejoy?" Crowder asked in a low tone.

"Not necessary. The girl's doing fine," Lovejoy replied. "You have the floor, Miss Smith."

"You hold an ace in the hole, Mr. Barclay?" flashed Nancy. "You'll need it, for I hold aces myself. That night when I had to get to Dagger Wash I spiked your guns. . . . Sheriff Crowder, where's that latest description of the crook Wm. F. Waller wired you to arrest?"

"Huh?" exclaimed the sheriff. "So darn much I don't savvy a-tall is goin' on here I'm bumfoozled. . . Here's that tel'gram from Waller. But you don't need to look at it, Miss—er—Smith. That descriptioin fits this chisel-faced geezer with the cast in his left eye right to a T!"

* * *

Like a cornered rat, Smoothie Dick whirled on Nancy. "You—you sent your uncle my description so he could send the same description to this hick sheriff?"

"You've stated it neatly," said Nancy quietly. "And now, if the 'hick sheriff' will reach into your hip pocket, Mr. Barclay, he'll find a certain billfold. It's the one you flashed at the poker game the other night and have had no chance to plant on Donald Sturgis a second time!"

Smoothie Dick dived toward the farther door. But moving with even greater speed, Cinders caught the man, spun him about face, holding him fast. Sheriff Crowder, too, had sprung to action. A flash of metal, a click, and handcuffs encircled Smoothie's wrists. Except for these three men and Nancy, the others in the room had remained as motionless as if frozen. All save John William Smith, who flipped a letter from his coat pocket demanded:

"Is my wallet on that mug, sheriff? If 'tis, I'll bet my last nickel that 'twas him sent me this damned extortion threat. Not Don Sturgis! Not Don Sturgis!"

"Here's a leather billfold marked 'J. W. S.' "

"Mine!" shouted J. W. "By jingo, I've seen this buzzard in Philadelphia. It's plain now that after pickin' my pocket he followed my niece here. Take him away, sheriff."

* * *

"Just a minute, Mr. Smith." Lovejoy thrust himself forward, abruptly taking full charge. "You hadn't noticed me, and are you surprised to see me! Well, within two minutes after you'd taken an airplane west I had word of it, and of your destination. I followed, but landed at Dagger Wash well ahead of you. Right on the job you see, J. W. There are still several matters to be settled.

"Miss Nancy, somewhat to the dismay of my old friend Smoothie Dick, who has been posing here as Roger J. Barclay, you've pinned one robbery on him. But you've not explained how these valuable securities—I checked them; they're all accounted for—happen to be in your possession this morning, nor—"

Nancy broke in. "That is something I'm sure I can explain satisfactorilly later. Isn't it sufficient for the moment that both Mr. Barclay, whom you call, 'Smoothie Dick,' and I now realize exactly what happened the night of the robbery here?"

"If you can explain it later—" began Lovejoy and again Nancy interrupted.

"The important point to clear up," she said, "is who stole my jewelry and securities from Cabin Number One here on the T Slash? The thief was Roger J. Barclay!"

Smoothie Dick snarled. "You can't prove it, you little hellcat! Everybody on the ranch can identify that shirt in which the plunder was wrapped as one Don Sturgis was wearing until he changed to the one he has on now, Lovejoy, Crowder, Perriwell and all the rest of you guys, take a good look at—"

The man's voice died as swiftly as does an electric light when the current is shut off. He was staring, dumbfounded, at the flour-smeared flannel shirt upon which lay the jewels, the stocks and the bonds.

* * *

In the sudden, deathlike silence, Nancy Eleanor Smith removed the articles from the garment, shook off the flour and held it up for all to see.

"Whose shirt is it?" she said.

Old Sol burst out. "By doggies, it's Barclay's!"

"Barclay's!" Slim Cummings echoed. "He was wearin' it when he hit the ranch!"

"How d'you like it out west, city crook?" whooped Ike Skittles, his eyes bright with admiration for the girl he had known and loved as Bobbie. "Blister my fetlocks, Bobbie, I rec'lect your tellin' me you'd show up the feller as needed showin' up when the sign was right!"

Alfred E. Lovejoy was rubbing his hands approvingly. He said, "One more point, Miss Nancy Smith. The most important one," with emphasis. "If only we can prove that my dear friend Smoothit Dick snatched Mrs. Smythe's securities from her home! I'm conceding you the right to bring with you those that belonged to you and your sisters, Miss Nancy, and I'm satisfied in my own mind that Smoothie snatched the others, but—"

Nancy answered, "I was positive of it yesterday after I'd thought the whole thing through and put two and two together."

She was watching Smoothie Dick, whose handcuffs did not prevent his twitching right hand from fingering nervously and wholly involuntarily his watch fob. His broken watch fob! And this was something of which Nancy Eleanor Smith was sufficiently quick-witted to take advantage.

Smoothie once again was sneering, "That's something you can't prove, Miss Wise Guy. You're all washed up now."

Again silence held the room, all eyes on the slender, tawny-haired girl who said without raising her voice, "Don't be too sure, Mr. Barclay. The thief left a clue in the Smythe house. And I found it! Here it is." Her hand reached out to meet the hand of the special investigator. "Mr. Lovejoy, can you identify this broken watch fob?"

* * *

He let his breath out in a long significant whistle. "Broken, eh? And Miss Nancy found the other half in—"

A savage oath drowned the man's voice. 'She did find it in the Smythe house then!" grated Smoothie Dick. "You've got me, Lovejoy. I was there. I—hell! I'm talking too much."

"However you've said enough!" Lovejoy snapped—and opened his cupped hand.

JOB OF Y. W. C. A.

Speaker Says Girls Must Help Promote Democracy.

Women and girls of the Y. W. C. A. in the United States have the job of promoting democracy here and abroad was the opinion of Mrs. J. K. Linsenmayer in a talk given to Mansfield business girls organizations at a banquet at the Y. W. C. A.

"Responsibility Accepted" was the subject of Mrs. Linsenmayer's talk in which she discussed the work of the Y. W. in all parts of the world. She pointed out the services performed by girls in maintaining refugee camps, canteens, and providing food and recreation for the needy in warring countries. Mrs. Linsenmayer recently attended a foreign division conference of Y. W. workers held in Indianapolis.

The banquet was a part of a nation-wide observance in honor of the business girls organizations. Marion Brangaccio was toastmistress; Frances Carter led group singing; Lou Dora Black offered the invocation.

Beta Epsilon, Garcia, and Sigma Alpha Rho were the three business girls organizations represented at the banquet.

the fiercely-contested Cheren sector, 42 miles from Asmara, the capital of Italian Eritrea, were repelled.

Stefani, the official Italian news agency, reported that a Greek division was cut to pieces attempting to capture a mountain height on the Tepeleni front and that hundreds of Greek bodies littered the mountainside.

Stefani declared that the Italians, after cutting lose with artillery and machine-guns at point-blank range, chased the surviving Greeks back to their trenches.

Greek dispatches from the fighting front countered with the declaration that five Italian divisions —approximately 75,000 men—have been "shattered" in Fascist offensives during the last seven days.

British RAF headquarters in Athens said 14 Italian fighter planes were shot down yesterday in a battle over the Klisura-Tepeleni sector, without loss of a single British plane.

See Nazi-Jugoslav Deadlock Broken

(By United Press)

BELGRADE—Usually well informed diplomatic quarters reported today that a deadlock between Jugoslavia and Germany on the extent of Jugoslav cooperation with the Axis powers had been broken.

They admitted that they were not positive that a solution had been found, but said Premier Dragisha Cvetovitch and Foreign Minister Alexander Cincar-Markovitch might leave for Berlin at any hour in a German plane which had been waiting for them all week.

Informants, aware of the previous sudden changes in the diplomatic situation between Jugoslavia and Germany, said that it was still possible there might be delay.

Until this morning, well informed sources had reported that negotiations remained deadlocked, as they had been all week.

As the negotiations continued, diplomatic circles heard unconfirmed reports that about 30,000 British troops had disembarked at Piraeus, the port of Athens.

SPEED WORK ON APPROPRIATION

Committee Rushes Work on Aid Bill Measure For $7,000,000,000.

000,000 was needed immediately or could be spent during the coming year.

Senator Taft (R.-Ohio), who voted against the British aid bill, reported informally there appeared to be support for a proposal to limit the cash appropriation to $3,500,000,000 for the first year, and make the other $3,500,000,000 available in authorizations.

A change of this character, he argued, would give congress a closer check on the progress of the program.

In an atmosphere of strictest secrecy, meanwhile, the house appropriations sub-committee called army, navy and budget officers for questioning on how the vast armaments and supply fund would be spent.

The necessity for secrecy was said to have been stressed by one witness, who mentioned the fact that a lot of Germany's success might be attributed to the fact that the Reich kept apponents in the dark as to details of its military program.

The hearings got under way yesterday with a three-hour closed session during which the committee heard general statements by the secretaries of state, war and navy advocating prompt passage of the huge appropriation asked by President Roosevelt to "make for democracies every gun, plane and munition of war that we possibly can."

Declares British Can Win With U. S. Aid

INDIANAPOLIS — (A.P.) — The American Legion's national commander, back from an official visit to England, said today the British were "practically certain" to win the war if American supplies were convoyed to them.

Commander Milo J. Warner of Toledo, reporting to Legion headquarters on the organization's four-man mission to Britain, asserted that assurance of munitions and food from this country would enable the British to "carry on and keep their chins up."

It is definitely in the balance whether they can win without our aid, that is, the actual delivery to them of these much needed munitions and food supplies their ultimate victory is practically certain.

"We can feel reasonably certain of getting munitions and supplies to England only by actually convoying them," he added.

Warner said that his group was given to understand that the British "do not have the trained technicians and personnel to take over our destroyers and ships and place them promptly into necessary combat and convoy operation."

"The morale of the civilian population and of the armed forces is excellent," he added.

He expressed belief British officials would consider relinquishing control of insular possessions in the western hemisphere to the United States "with the question of the government of the island population to be left for future determination," and urged that this country work out an agreement in regard to such control.

state's effort to join in a nation-wide program to find needed workers.

The manager urged all workers in this district to register as soon as possible and emphasized the point that many of them from past experiences might be able to contribute a great deal for the country's defense program.

There are approximately 2,000 workers in the Mansfield district, according to Handley, who should register for the survey.

"Every unemployed worker in the country who may be available for work or training in defense jobs and every person with an urgently needed skill which is not being used in his present job should register," said Handley.

The d istrict manager said that the gover nment seeks skilled aircraft production workers, ship builders and machine shop workers and also that this district held many workers qualified for employment in these trades.

Workers employed in any of the above industries are not to be encouraged to register and workers with vital defense skills will not be asked to leave their present jobs, said Handley. They are merely to register their qualifications with the employment bureau so that they may be called when and if needed in a defense industry.

WPA To Study Basic Reasons Of Court Suits

ST. LOUIS—(UP)—The Works Progress administration here is on a project costing $122,000 that sometime in the next 24 months is expected to discover why so many people go into court.

The project, called a "litigation analyzer," is going to study some 180,000 legal cases starting back in the 1920's and running to the present.

The job is to list statistics on cases filed, damages claimed, relief sought, dilatory motions filed, verdicts, reversals, number of persons involved, court and attorney costs and other miscellaneous information.

Blank forms containing 650 questions are being used and each case is checked on each question. Ten lawyers and 120 "white collar" workers are employed on the task.

The project is unprecedented except for a smaller compilation of figures in Connecticut which began in 1926 and published a report in 1937.

Books For Children

• • •

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

The magic of a fairy tale is found in the adventures of the children in two new stories for children at the Mansfield Public library. The first would be a delight to all the family if read aloud, and the other one is written for older boys and girls.

SMOKY HOUSE, by Elizabeth Goudge—In the village of Faraway there was an inn called Smoky House. Five children and their father lived there and all the village people came there regularly too. Even the unhappy fiddler with the gay clothes found a welcome there until it was learned that he really came to try to locate smuggled goods. The escape of the smugglers and their forgiveness of the spy make an exciting mysterious tale.

THE LISTENING MAN, by Lucy Embury — Ollave was a dwarfed boy of tall parents. He had no desire to be a fighting man. He preferred to listen for music and to ask questions of nature. At last he was allowed to attend Prince Finnian's school where he learned to make books. All this took place long, long ago when they dreamed of a time when there might be a book for every man.

Greeks Bag an Italian Colonel

Proudly astride their motorcycle are these two Greek soldiers who are on their way to Greek army headquarters in Albania with their prisoners—the two dejected-looking fellows in the sidecar, an Italian colonel of an Alpine regiment and his aide-de-camp. To add to the irony of the occasion the motorcycle is of German manufacture, purchased by the Greeks before the outbreak of war.

RICHLAND RED CROSS REPORT SHOWS CHAPTER IN BUSY MONTH

Activity is at a busy pace for the Richland county Red Cross, according to the number of groups engaged in defense and first aid work in Mansfield.

Junior Red Cross work is in charge of Mrs. William J. Bishop and during the past month children completed dresses and skirts for the war relief project. The group also provided favors for the 50 adopted veterans in the Chillicothe hospital for both Valentine day and Washington's birthday.

Mansfield General hospital, Ohio State Reformatory, Richland county Tubercular Sanatorium and Richland county infirmary also received remembrances for these holidays. Six pair of glasses were purchased and two examinations authorized for underprivileged school children.

Thirty-three students received first aid certificates during the past month, and three first aid classes were started, one in Franklin township and two junior classes, the John Simpson Junior high school Girl Scouts and Bowman school Girl Scouts.

Five persons received their instructors' certificates when they attended the training course held at Mt. Vernon during February. They include Paul English, Leland T. Powell, Eugene Schiller, Leland Sorgen and Harold K. Mansfield.

WORLD'S LONGEST FENCE PROPOSED

AUSTIN, Tex. — (U.P.) — Longest fence in the world will be one built on the north bank of the Rio Grande if plans of the border fence committee of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association mature.

The fence, as proposed, would be approximately 500 miles long, extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the mouth of Devils river about 12 miles north of Del Rio, Tex. Beyond Del Rio the deep river canyon and natural barriers are said to make the fence unnecessary.

The proposed fence would prevent predatory animals, livestock and wild game crossing between Mexico and the United States.

Taking over command of the Swedish army, Lt.-Gen. Ivar Holmquist told soldiers that they needed "the support which religion gives."

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, March 15.

An extremely lively and enterprising day may be anticipated on the basis of the current planetary activities. All pertaining to trade, writings, publishing, communications and travel should be greatly accelerated and move swiftly into gratifying grooves of success and accomplishment. And while the judgment may be sound and the mentality well organized, yet there are tendencies to act from impulse. Keep cool and refrain from danger and tempest.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a particularly lively and lucrative year, in which all matters of a business or professional nature may move at high tempo. The faculties may be accelerated to notable accomplishment in writings, publicity, correspondence or business, with the judgment solid and secure. But this solidarity should not be negatived by excitement, strife, arbitrary conduct or impetuosity. Let calm judgment make decisions. Resort to diplomacy and tact, while emotional storms and stresses rage.

A child born on this day should be splendidly talented and versatile, with a brilliant mind and faculties sustained by sane and solid judgments and character, with capacity for sagacity.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

There was such despairing grief in Ronald's voice that for an instant I regretted telling him about Carolyn's recent activities. Then the remembrance of Marion's peril banished my qualms but I tried to reassure him nevertheless.

"You are looking at the worst possible side of this, Ronald," I told him. "There may be—I am sure there is—some explanation for this whole thing, which will make us understand—everything they have done."

"That's the only thing that keeps me sane that hope," he said extravagantly. "But it's a very slender one, as you know yourself. However, there's something else to consider now, and that's Carolyn. Of course she must not go back to Weirhampton. And I suppose Dad and Mother will have to know. But it will kill them both. They are so proud of Carol."

"They do not have to know—yet," I told him vehemently. "They may never have to know a thing about it."

"How will you explain her not going back to college?" he asked with skepticism in his voice.

"But she must go back to college," I told him.

He stared at me in astonishment.

"But—don't you realize—you told me this yourself—that if she goes back this gangster will get hold of her again? You can't mean what you're saying."

"She'll be perfectly safe," I told him, trying not to remember Dicky's avowed determination to let Carolyn join the young gangster if there were no other way of finding out where Marion was. "But don't you see, Ronald, if she goes back to college and a very careful watch is set on her, every movement scrutinized—oh! of course outside the knowledge of the college authorities — my father's men will be able not only to find out the identity of this young gangster, but to follow his trail, possibly to that of the man who is terrorizing Marion. It seems to be our best chance—don't you see Carolyn must return to college—and return unsuspecting that she is being watched."

"Yes, I see," he said slowly.

"For that reason, I went on, "I do not want you to question her at all about Marion. She either can tell you nothing or will not. I have tried every method I know—and I dealt with girls for a long time when I was teaching—but to no avail, and Uncle Dicky and I have decided that our best chance is to have her go back to college, and then have her shadowed every moment."

"It's horrible," he said with a shudder, "but she's brought it on herself, and it's a relief to know she'll be protected from that man, also to know we can keep Dad and Mother in ignorance for a while yet."

He was getting hold of himself, I noted with relief. We would have a strong young ally in our search for Marion, I was confident of that, and his next words made me doubly sure of his eagerness to help us.

"What can I do to help right now?" he asked. "I'm ashamed of having played a coward's part so long. I'll shower and shave and dress, and be ready to do anything you want inside of half an hour."

"There's one thing in which we do want help," I told him, "but that's tomorrow."

"Name it," he said.

"We want to take Carolyn back to Weirhampton ourselves. I'm afraid she's going to object, and I don't know just how to explain things to your father and mother."

"Leave that to me," he said confidently. "I'll fix things with Carol and the family."

He stopped, hesitated, while his face paled.

"And now, I'll keep my promise to you," he said, and going to his desk, took from it a folded sheet of note paper, and coming back held it out to me.

"Read that," he said, "and see if you blame me much for almost going mad."

North, of course, took the lead of the diamond J with the Q. Reckoning East's double as based on the threatening cards of the two major suits, he cashed the spade K and finessed the 10, followed by the A. He counted West for the club A so led the dummy's club 3 and came right up with the K which held. Seeking to build another club trick, he led the club 2 from dummy. East's Q winning.

With only major suit cards left East led the heart 10 to the A, and North then laid down the diamond A on the eighth trick. If squeezed East, who at this stage had six cards, the heart 9-8-7-6 and the spade J-9. Unwilling to part with one of his hearts in view of the K-Q-J-3 in dummy, he tossed off a spade, in which North held the Q-5. That enabled North to drop the spade J with his Q and cash the spade 5, discarding clubs from the dummy. He then took in three hearts, giving up the last one to East and making his contract.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Such Interesting People.

(And it's the Little Things That Intrigue You!)

* * *

BETTY GRABLE, the golden-haired dream girl of the collegiates, has developed a neat way of dismaying gossips who sidle up to her with whispers that this-or-that friend made such-and-such a criticism of her, and behind her back, too! Bety glows and says, "Why, I think she's perfectly right. Thanks for telling me." It sends trouble-makers off gnashing their teeth. . . .

Kilgallen.

Milton Berle liked a Miami Beach barber so well he took him all the way to California with him the other day to act as a private tonsorial attendant. Having your exclusive razor-wielder is getting to be a habit with the Broadway blades. . . .

Vaughn Monroe, whose band—and blond locks—are the current raves of the jitterbugs, is a fire field whose enthusiasm makes Mayor LaGuardia seem like a pyrophobiac. After the saxophones and the trombones have been put away, Vaughn and a couple of boys from the band wander around town waiting hopefully for something to go up in flames.

* * *

Whenever Dorothy Lamour feels melancholy—or just in need of a good laugh—she spends an hour reading from a diary she kept back in the days when she was one of a dozen beauty contest winners featured in a Fanchon and Marco unit and "practically engaged" to a young, small-town banjo player.

Ozzie Nelson drinks malted milks the way you drink water. Has one every hour or so. . . .

* * *

Sheila Barrett, the mimic, solves her clothes problem by having a designer whip up a devastating evening gown model for her—then has it executed in three copies, one black, one white, one bright red.

Comedian Col Stoopnagle never writes letters until he falls ill and has to stay in bed. Then friends who haven't heard from him in ages receive three-page missives that send them into gales. . . .

Most bandleaders call their musicians "boys," or something much less flattering, but B. A. Rolfe addresses his men as "gentlemen."

Boris Karloff, the terror of the talkies, actually walks furtively along the street, and the other night he was spotted shrinking timorously from a figure known as Broadway Rose, who hung from his shoulder mooing: "Boris, dolling!"

* * *

Some of the world's greatest artists make the finest personal impressions because they are unassuming to the point of seeming almost unprofessional—until it's time for them to perform. Fritz Kreisler, for instance, will tell you that he hasn't practised for years. "The music is still the same," he shrugs, "and so am I."

Ethel Merman is another who never practices after she learns her songs in the show—doesn't even try out her voice before she goes onstage. But what comes out is always worth $4.40. . . .

When Thomas A. Dewey, the racket-buster, signs his autograph, he writes "Thom Dewey." . . . Victor Moore is probably the most patient man on Broadway. At benefits he's been known to wait four hours to go on, with not one temperamental peep.

* * *

When Rags Raglund wears his camel's-hair coat with the padded shoulders, the 45th street sidewalk is scarcely wide enough for him to walk on. . . .

NEW DRIVER LICENSE LAW RECOMMENDED

Persons Under 15 Could Not Get Permits In Ohio Under Proposal.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Persons less than 15 years of age could not obtain a license to drive an automobile under legislation recommended for passage by the senate highways and automotive committee.

The present law permits issuance of a license to anyone under 21 if his application is signed by a parent or guardian.

The new law proposed by Sentor Fred Seibert (R-Auglaize) would allow a person 16 or 17 years of age to obtain a license if his parent or guardian signed the application.

It also requires the state registrar of motor vehicles to cancel the permit at the request of the parent or guardian.

Seibert's bill also proposes several other new restrictions on the issuance of drivers' licenses.

The registrar could require an examination of an applicant to determine his "physical fitness" to drive an automobile. The existing statute provides only for an examination of eyesight.

Additional provisions of the bill are:

The registrar would have final authority on the issuance of licenses.

The license would have to list the driver's forfeitures of bond in traffic cases as well as his convictions of traffic violations.

The registrar would have to maintain a record of all bond forfeitures.

A 50-cent fee would be required of applicants for temporary instruction permits, and

Giving a false statement in connection with a driver's license would be defined as a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine and jail sentence. The present law defines false swearing as perjury, punishable by sentence to the penitentiary.

An interesting but not too successful experiment in medicine was tried this morning in the municipal court clerk's office. Ralph Hughes, clerk, was aiding Isabel Gerstmeyer, deputy clerk, in trying to induce a much-needed sneeze. Several whiffs from a bottle of mustard seed, failed to produce the sneeze. Isabel is still searching vainly for his gesundheit.

For the last fiscal year approximately $1,200 was spent for transportation by mail carriers on Mansfield buses, postoffice officials said. In terms of rides taken on the buses paying the regular rate of four checks for a quarter, approximately 19,200 rides were taken by carriers in the course of their duty.

Unable to reach a verdict in a damage suit after two hours' deliberation, the jurors were taken to a restaurant by Court Bailiff David Lantz at 6:15 p. m. Returning to the courthouse, the jurors were unable to reach a verdict until 9:15 p. m.

PLANE WILL DO 350 MILES PER HOUR, REPORT

Craft To Be Manufactured at Columbus Designed To Double Bomb Load.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Construction of a new type of dive bomber with a probable top speed of at least 350 miles an hour and designed to carry a bomb load twice as large as that borne by similar planes abroad was announced today by a leading American aircraft company. It will be manufactured in quantity at the new Curtiss-Wright factory being built at Columbus. At capacity the factory will employ 12,000 workmen.

Burdette S. Wright, vice president of the Curtiss-Wright Corp., said the plane was designed to meet navy requirements for:

Twice as many heavy bombs as any existing dive bomber; a range twice that of present models; twice the gunfire of any other single-engine navy plane, and a maximum speed of 100 miles an hour faster than current types.

The speed requirement would indicate a maximum performance of at least 350 miles an hour. The German junkers "Stukas," used extensively in Norway, the invasion of the low countries, the battle of France and the assault on England, have a top speed in level flight of about 250 miles an hour.

They dive on objectives with the use of "flaps" or air brakes at from 250 to 300 miles an hour. Reduced speed in normal high-velocity dives is required for accuracy in releasing bombs.

That part of the announcement pertaining to bomb loads would indicate a capacity of at least 2,000 pounds of explosives. Current "production" dive bombers of the navy carry 1,000 pounds of bombs, and the Stukas carry from 550 to 1,100 pounds depending on the distance to the "target" and the nature of the objective.

The new plane, fitted with a 1,700 horsepower Wright "Cyclone" engine, is considerably larger and heavier than any known types in the service of England, Italy or Germany. It carries its bomb load inside the fuselage, reducing "drag" and boosting speed. Stukas carry 850 horsepower engines.

Designed to operate from aircraft carriers on scouting and bombing missions, the plane to meet navy specifications would have a range 600 miles beyond previously established limits.

35 CASES ON JURY'S DOCKET

Three-Day Session Looms For Grand Jurors Meeting at Courthouse Monday.

When the January term Richland county grand jurors convene at 9 a. m. Monday they will have at least 35 cases to investigate, enough to keep them busy three days, Prosecutor Harold Lutz said today.

Twenty-five bind-over cases had been scheduled today, and the prosecutor said there will be at least 10 cases in which he will ask sub rosa indictments.

The list of witnesses had not been completed today, but it was expected that well over 50 of them will be called before the jurors.

Among the defendants whose cases will be taken to the jury and the charges against them are:

Albert Twyman, receiving stolen property; William H. Smith, Charles L. Beaver, Marshall Markey, Michael Hoffer, Robert Kimmel, James Palm and Walter Carr, all accused of breaking and entering; John Ritchie, arson; Calvin Calhoun, Clayton Baldwin and Thomas Barfield, cutting with intent to wound; Virgie Green and George Bibb, operating a motor vehicle without the owners' consent; Robert H. Shaw and W. E. Weaver, forgery; Harry Simpson, Victor Tucker, Sebastian Teschler, Harold Fletcher, Robert Tate, and Wayne Kiner, non support; Arnold Conn, robbery; Frank Graszl, embezzlement; Charles Morton, removing mortgaged property.

Ritchie, held on an arson charge, is accused of starting the fire which destroyed a store and residence building at Trailer City east of Mansfield last week.

MANSFIELD TO ENTER NATIONAL CONTEST FOR TRAFFIC SAFETY

With Mansfield having only four fatal auto accidents in 1940, F. C. Boals, traffic and junior patrol superintendent, announced today that it would enter the National Traffic Safety contest chiefly to discover how it compared with other cities of its size in traffic safety.

Boals explained that the rules of the contest call for many reports which deal with special phases of traffic control which Mansfield does not practice. Of the 28 men on the city force, not one devotes his time entirely to traffic. Six officers work part-time in traffic control with two motorized officers on cycles.

The city's auto death rate dropped from nine in 1939 to only four last year, according to the police department's records. In 1938, seven were killed and in 1937, five.

The 1940 record is 66 per cent lower than that of the preceding year. The four fatal accidents occurred in May, June, July and November. A total of 126 accidents were reported, 122 being non-fatal.

Included in the application to the National Traffic Safety council in Chicago is a request for all information regarding safety and traffic devices, signs, programs and police activity.

Twenty new street lights were installed in the city last year, the report shows. Twenty-three new street signs were erected, two miles of new paving constructed. Boals listed 1,400 traffic signs used by the city and 53 intersection markers.

The city's "Safetytown" program for training children in traffic problems, conducted during the summer months under Boals' direction, is listed in reply to a safety council's query concerning child traffic programs sponsored by the city.

DISLIKES PAY

Columbus Man Wants More Money Before He's Drafted.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Local draft board officials declared today that if a one-man "strike" for higher pay for selectees isn't settled by Monday, they will take drastic action.

A skilled mechanic, identity undisclosed, has written the board that "if the government wants to come across with more money, we may talk business; otherwise, no."

The mechanic failed to return his questionnaire and to report for induction as ordered last week.

TO RECLASSIFY

Many Draft Boards Told They Have Too Few 1-A Men.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Many local draft boards will have to reclassify selective service registrants because they have been too lenient in granting job and marriage deferments, selective officials said today.

Many local boards have found that they do not have enough men in Class 1-A—ready for active service—to meet their quota. Officials here said some local boards already are "scraping the bottom of the barrel" for Class 1-A registrants.

In addition to too many deferments, some local boards have found that fewer men than anticipated have volunteered for induction.

Richland county boards, which have called less than a third of their men for physical examinations, anticipate no trouble getting enough men for their first year's quota, although it was indicated boards here may tighten up on their deferments.

IN FIFTH DAY

Leaders Seek Settlement of Prolonged Bus Strike.

NEW YORK —(INS)— As New York City's bus strike moved into its fifth day, leaders of the CIO's transport workers' union and representatives of the two strike-bound Manhattan bus companies today planned to renew negotiations in an attempt to settle the wage dispute.

Michael Quill, international president of the TWU, who is leading the union's fight for a 25 per cent wage increase, announced that the buses would "not roll today or the day after unless we are cocksure of something good in the works."

Bus operators are seeking a four per cent cut for employes and a reduction in the number of men operating the buses.

LIMA—(U.P.)—The Lima Locomotive Works, Inc., today announced receipt of orders for 10 locomotives from the Southern Pacific railroad, assuring the Lima works of capacity operations for all of 1941.

The company has received orders for 28 locomotives since the start of the year.

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—(U.P.)—Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler today approved the purchase of $4,500 worth of additional athletic equipment for the 37th division of the Ohio soldiers.

Part of the order for athletic material is already under contract and the remainder will be open to bidding.

Students Protest Marietta College Ban Against Beer

MARIETTA — (AP) — Marietta college students like their beer.

They raised such a squawk over a dean's order banning them from local tap rooms yesterday that college officials agreed to give them a hearing on the matter.

About half the 350 students enrolled in the school assembled in the tap room of a tavern and paraded through the streets to the home of the college president, K. K. Eversull.

Massed before the president's house, the students—half of them co-eds — shouted "Heil Schoonover" and gave the Nazi salute in protest of Dean D. T. Schoonover's ruling.

President Eversull advised them to choose a committee to meet with the dean to talk things over.

Penalty for being in a tavern, according to the dean's ban, is expulsion from college.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—I suppose little Patricia Travers is too busy fiddling in concert to make it a steady proposition, all the same I maintain there's a place in Hollywood for a child like her.

ROBBIN COONS

Patricia is one of the talented violinists in "The Hard-Boiled Canary. She floats through a concerto or a symphony like the musical wizard she is, but even without her violin she could lift movies out of ruts. Patricia plays a role as well as her fiddle in this movie, and the role is that of chronic doubter, skeptic, and cold-water-thrower.

"Canary" is about Camp Interlochen, the Michigan music center. Pat is the child who just doesn't like music. She's there because her mama and papa sent her. Sure, she'll play. She'll saw away at the derned notes but she doesn't mind telling the world she'd rather be at the beach. She's pretty indignant about it.

* * *

In a picture like this one, in which misfit Susanna Foster undergoes regeneration to come through for dear old Interlochen and all its ideals, little Patricia runs great interference for the players carrying the plot ball.

When the other children's talk about music and dear old Interlochen runs the risk of stumbling on a cloud, Pat steps in to drag the proceedings down to earth.

When the plot makes much to-do about whether Susanna or someone else shall sing in the audition, Pat pronounces, "I'll never see why she wants to sing it, anyway,"—thus totally disarming, in advance, any cynics in the audience who might harbor the same notion.

Yes, there's a career here for a kid like Pat, talking for and back to the audience. Just picture her at one of those steeplechase movies, looking candidly at the heroine whose hero has just taken a nasty spill. "So he's broken his neck, so what?" says Pat. "The second lead's better-looking. What've you got to lose?"

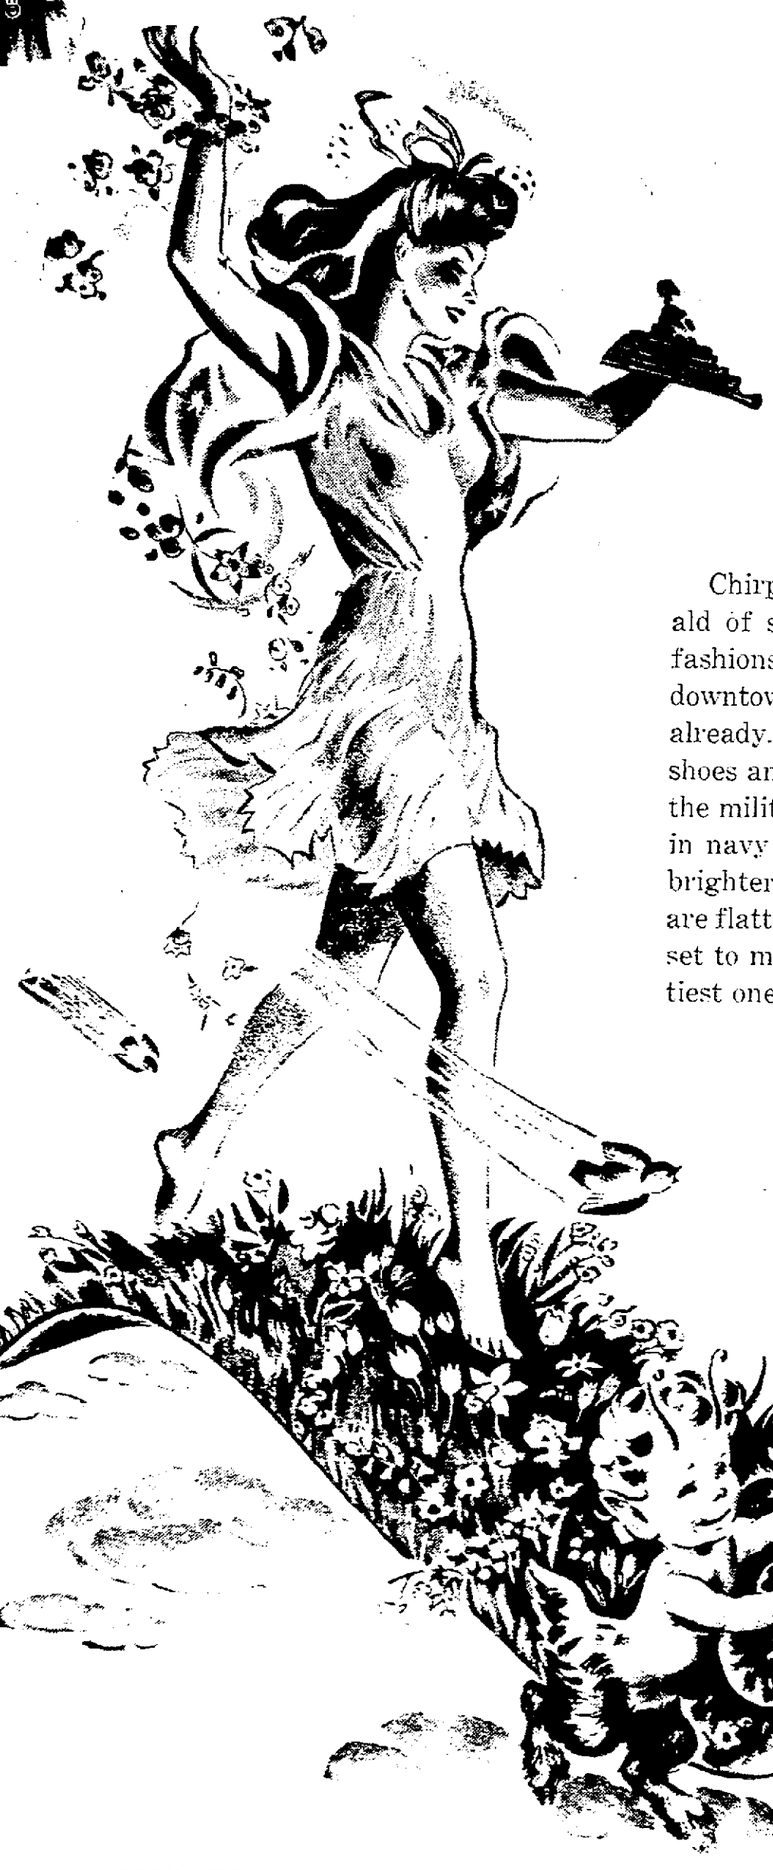
Spring raises the curtain on Everywoman's fashion future. From New York's Fashion Futures presentation of all American designed, American made clothes, came the inspiration for Mansfield stores to use the pages of The News-Journal, to reveal everything new and outstandingly smart to wear, for Spring 1941. From the informative stories, photographs and ads appearing in today's News-Journal, Everywoman in this city may determine her own fashion future: finding the most appropriate style trends on which to base her wardrobe selection, whatever her way of life. And from the choice of her own wardrobe, Everywoman will turn to her husband's and children's fashion needs . . . then to making their home a gracious background, wherein all will share a typically American fashion future this spring of 1941. Everywoman's home has not been forgotten in Mansfield's planning for and advance glimpses of spring. Furnishings, window treatments, floor coverings, paints, colors all have their own important places in the parade of spring and enjoy rightful recognition during Spring Opening and Display Days.

Visit Mansfield Stores Today and Saturday and Inspect New Spring Things on Display



Chirping robin may once have been the herald of spring, but now it seems that milady's fashions mark its arrival, and so a tour of the downtown stores will reveal that spring is here already. From dresses, suits and coats to hats, shoes and accessories, spring trends are toward the military as well as the frilly feminine styles in navy blue, beige and a score of pastels and brighter "escape" colors. Spring fashions for '41 are flatteringly different, and the local shops are set to make this year's Easter parade the prettiest one ever.

CATTLE CLUB OFFICER SPEAKS AT GUERNSEY MEETING TODAY

Karl B. Musser, secretary-treasurer of the American Guernsey Cattle club of Peterborough, N. H., was to be the principal speaker at the 30th annual meeting of the Ohio Guernsey Breeders association today at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Also scheduled to speak is J. G. Hayes, extension dairyman at Michigan State college, who will discuss "The Importance of Good Dairy Type and Production." Guernsey breeders from all sections of Ohio are expected to be here for the meeting. The association has 200 members in the state.

The program was to get under way at 10 a. m. with a business meeting. Reports of the organization's activities for the past year was to be given by Floyd Barlow, milk marketing representative; H. E. Denlinger, field secretary, and Ivan Steiner, secretary-treasurer.

The talks were to follow a luncheon in the hotel ballroom. Otto Kline, dairy superintendent at Raemelton farm and president of the Ohio Guernsey association, will preside.

During the afternoon program awards were to be made for the Guernsey cow completing the highest butterfat record in each of the five divisions covering advanced registry work last year. There were special awards for the cows in each division which exceeded their requirements by the largest margin.

FAMOUS MELLON ART GALLERY WILL OPEN TO PUBLIC MAR. 17

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The National Gallery of Art, which the late Andrew W. Mellon willed to the government, will be formally opened to the public on St. Patrick's day by President Roosevelt. The gallery will remain open for all but two days of the year, and there will be no entrance fee charged the public.

The National gallery is of the most modern design, aptly serving the purpose for which is was built. There are no windows in sight throughout the three-block length of the structure. The roof, however, includes a few acres of skylights, which allow soft light to filter through the unbreakable flat glass ceilings of the galleries. Intake and output blowers circulate 700,000 cubic feet of air per minute in the confined space between the ceilings and skylights, which otherwise would be virtually "cooking" temperature under a bright sun.

Air conditioning equipment circulates fresh air in the galleries at just the right degree of humidity. The air in the galleries is filtered and washed clean of sulphur dioxide, which is destructive to paintings. The gallery walls and floors are sound-proofed.

The priceless art treasures are safeguarded from possibility of theft or vandalism by an elaborate signal system. Every room of the gallery is under constant observation of attendants who have signal butions within easy reach. In any emergency, they would signal the central control station, and immediately every outside door would be closed by a master switch. Direct wires from the central control station radiate also to police, fire and telegraph stations. A network of watchmen's posts and electrical recording apparatus insures constant supervision of the whole building.

RICHLAND COUNTY'S RELIEF COSTS DROPS $400 IN MONTH

Private industry spurred on national defense contracts and WPA projects were responsible for a drop of more than $400 in the relief load for the Mansfield and Richland county relief areas during February, according to the monthly report of J V. Finney, relief director, released today.

Finney said that relief expenditures totalled $11,731.32 in February. $428.71 less than in January. Of this amount Mansfield spent $4,987.72, a drop of approximately $700 from the preceding month.

The county case load decreased from 509 to 493 cases including 1,563 persons. Direct relief was extended to 119 of the cases with 558 persons involved at a cost of $2,033.46 and to 39 individuals for $562.31.

Work relief in the county area went to 70 persons in 17 cases for a $373.25 total and to five individuals for $14.60. No cases received both direct and work relief in the county, the report shows.

Administrative expense was $996.68 and non-administrative, $1,022.36, for a total of $2,019.04.

The report showed that only one boy was sent to a CCC camp during the month.

The office certified 61 persons for WPA work in February. Of the 123 persons assigned to projects, 30 failed to report and two were rejected. Seventy-seven were laid off because of illness, private employment and sufficient income. Approximately five hundred are now employed by WPA in Mansfield and the county, the report shows.

The WPA housekeeping aid project cared for 113 families including 380 persons. The WPA sewing project made a total of 1,821 garments and household goods and turned them over to the relief office with $551 expenses.

WOMEN TRAINED FOR WAR WORK

NEW YORK — (UP) — The Women Flyers of America, Inc., an organization which is training members in defense work, is broadening its program. Two aviation ground schools have been held and 63 girls now are taking flight instruction.

The first course in parachute rigging for women was opened on Feb. 10. In addition, the organization is training women in first aid, with the intention of extending this study to prepare them for ambulance driving.

The Women Flyers of America, a non-profit organization, has set as its goal a program of training which will help prepare women for defense roles in event an emergency should require a greater draft of manpower, according to Mrs. Herbert Roth, managing director.
